One Man's Opinion

By CARL BRIGGS

When I decided this week to say something appropriate about the Radio Church of God returning to Squaw Valley for their annual conference, it occurred to me once again how easy a task it is to welcome visitors to our home.

Actually, Squaw and the surrounding Tahoe–Truckee area speaks very well for itself and anything I might add would be redundant superfluity. The natural beauty of this land has been extolled at great length since the day Kit Carson and John Fremont traversed the southern boundaries of the Tahoe basin in 1844, and the plan truth is that a greater combination of scenery, history, and recreational vacilities and advantages exists in this immediate vicinity than anywhere in the country.

The appropriateness is that a religious group comes to this place instead of, say, Barstow or Daly City, and the coice does immense credit to their elders.

To visitors not familiar with the country, I might advise at least a cursory reading of John Muir, George Wharton James, and Bernard De Voto for background on the Sierra Nevada, the splendid "range of light" surrounding us; E. B. Scott for some Tahoe insight; and any of several Sierra Club publications that preserve through photographic excellence the scenic glories of the region.

But as long as you are here, right in the heart of the country, look around you and see with your own eyes what others have described in owrds more suitable than I am able to muster.

Look to the north of Squaw, to the great Emigrant Trail that crosses the mountains at Donner Pass, travelled in turn by pioneer wagon trains and gold-seeking 49ers; to the site of an incomparable tragedy that occurred at Donner Lake only 122 years ago; to the historic railroad town of Truckee that saw the Central Pacific pierce the Sierra to complete the most difficult leg of the transcontinental railroad that was finally to span the nation in 1869; to the eastern foothill fields and meadows once populated by ancient Indian tribes whose identities are lost in time.

Look to the south, to the eye-deceiving expanse of Lake Tahoe and imagine the early day industrialization of lumber camps, sawmills, steamships, posh summer resorts, commercial fishing fleets, and railroads lining the shore.

Look to the east, to Virginia City and the Comstock Lode, the world's greatest deposits of silver, whose billions saved the union in the Civil War and built the city of San Francisco; to Reno and Washoe and Carson City and all the great free land of western Nevada, truly the last of the wild west.

And look around you there at Squaw Valley, at natural scenic beauty combined with the greatest ski complex in the world. Modern services, conveniences, and facilities are at your disposal there and throughout the greater North Lake Tahoe area. It's a little too early to ski, perhaps, but there are fine restaurants, interesting shops, various entertainment opportunities, boat rentals, airplane tours, hunting, picnicking, hiking, fishing, horseback riding, swimming, tramways, packtrips, and almost anything else you can imagine.

So, welcome, church delegates and families. We're glad you came. Enjoy your stay and remember what you experience here because it is unique and unparalledled in all the world.

Approve Tahoe City Sewers In Tuesday Bond Election

Voters in Tahoe City Public Utility District voted overwhelmingly in favor of a $2 million bond Tuesday for the construction of sewers along the west shore of Lake Tahoe.

Polls in Tahoe City, Homewood, and Tahoma were visited by 535 residents yesterday, a relatively light turnout, who voted 87 per cent in favor of the issue. The ballot count for the entire district was 465 in favor and 70 against.

William B. Layton, manager of the utility district, said that contracts for the construction of the line and for a new treatment facility are expected to be awarded within a month.

When the new line is completed, it will extend south from Tahoe City to the approximate vicinity of the Timberlands subdivision, a distance of about three miles.

Construction of the treatment plant will be a joint project by the Tahoe City and North Tahoe Public Utility Districts. The new plant will utilize an interim disposal site for its treated effluent in a natural cinder cone formation located northwest of Tahoe City, outside the Tahoe basin.

The cinder cone site will receive treated outflow from all of the north and west shore, and eventually from as far south as Emerald Bay as new sections of sewer line are completed.

When the final overall disposal program, called Plan B, is completed, treated sewage will be piped down the Truckee River to a permanent disposal site in the lower Martis Valley area below the town of Truckee. The cinder cone will be abandoned after the master plan becomes operational, estimated to be from five to ten years away.

Truckee PUD Meets With EDA Officials, Request Federal Aid For Improvement

Officials of the Economic Development Administration met with the governing board of the Truckee Public Utility District Thursday to discuss the district's application for funds to improve the water department.

The district proposes to spend $460,000 to replace and improve portions of the water system, including an intake at Donner Lake to supplement the domestic supply as well as replace mains throughout the Truckee community, Francis Longo, district manager, explained.

Whether or not the district can meet the requirements for the EDA assistance may be determined when the directors confer with Water Resources Board next Tuesday relative to a loan from the Davis–Grunsky fund, set up to assist local water projects. If financing is still available from that source and the district can meet the basic requirments, of EDA, Longo indicated the district will provide the necessary 20 per cent of the cost, with 80 per cent coming from the EDA.

The district manager said that if the Davis–Grunsky money is available, it could be paid back over a period of 50 years, the first payment being due in 10 years, with a low interest rate.

Requirement of the EDA, among others, provides that substantial financial report be submitted. The district also must show where the project would provide permanent employment for a given number of people in the district.

Among those attending Thursday night's meeting were Nephi W. Clayton of Los Altos, Gaines Sutherlin of Seattle and Frank McChesney of Seattle, representing the EDA and Nevada County members of that organization on the planning committee.

Truckee-Donner Chamber On Bus-Stop Shelters For Kids

The Truckee–Donner Chamber of Commerce has issued an appeal to local businesses to sponsor the building of shelters for school children where school bus stops are made.

Rex Reid, of the Builders Service Center, has agreed to design two packets which could come in two sizes, depending on the size of the groups of children. The names of sponsoring businesses would appear on the shelter, but the packet would be assembled by children's fathers in the area it is to be placed.

The shelters would be stored during the summer. Cooperation is being sought from the school district regarding storage.

The chamber of commerce will be responsible for placing sponsors names on each shelter.

Suggestions or ideas concerning the plan may be directed to Carson White or Tom Dolley, originators of the idea. The chamber will give a prize to the group doing the best job on its shelter.

Next meeting of the Truckee–Donner Chamber is set for October 9.

Guest speaker will be Zeph Rose, candidate for Supervisor for this district. Candidate Willie Curran will address the chamber on October 23.

North Lake Tahoe Chamber Studies Changes In By-Laws

Members of the board of directors of North Lake Tahoe Chamber of Commerce took a firm stand Monday on maintaining equal representation on the board from all sections of Lake Tahoe's north and west shores. Under discussion was proposed change in by–laws dropping membership from 20 to 15.

The discussion took place at a luncheon meeting held at the Tahoe Inn. Dave Stollery presided.

Those attending agreed the general membership should be better informed, especially of the fact that board meetings, held once a month, are open to the membership. Also discussed and agreed was that the by–laws should incorporate more specified membership meetings per year.

During discussions, directors admitted they have been negligent in enforcing the by–law stating any director who misses more than three meetings without good cause should be dismissed. It was decided that this by law would be enforced beginning immediately.

The board passed a motion that the chamber of commerce would assume the responsibility for paying for a large "Go 80 to North Lake Tahoe" billboard already installed in the Bay Area. Cost of the Billboard is $1500.

The Tahoe City Motel Association originally contracted for the billboard. It asked the chamber of commerce to assume responsibility since it was of area–wide benefit.

It was announced a committee has already raised $550 and is attempting to raise another $450. Chamber of commerce responsibility will then be only $500. Contributions so far are $50 from Homewood Area Association, $100 from the Nugget, $100 from the North Shore Club and $300 from Tahoe Sierra Board of Realters.

The Ski Tahoe North committee announced it passed a motion to take a half page advertisement in the forthcoming Los Angeles Times special supplement promoting skiing at Lake Tahoe.

Also announced was new quarters for the chamber of commerce. The office will move across the street about the middle of October to 295 North Lake Blvd., Tahoe City.

"We will have much more room," said chamber manager Betty Layton.

In view of this we have already hired a badly needed third girl for the office who will work on the Ski Tahoe North reservation service."

John Sproehnle, Tim Sullivan and Bill Summerland were named as a nominating committee. They will bring a slate of officers and directors to be voted upon to the general membership annual dinner meeting Oct. 30. The meeting will be a dinner to be held at the Chataux at Incline.

Incline Village Founder Announces Resignation

INCLINE VILLAGE – Harold B. Tiller, one of the original founders of Incline Village in association with Arthur L. Wood, has announced his resignation from Incline Village Inc., effective Monday.

The announcement was made jointly by Tiller and the new development firm which took over the Crystal Bay Development Company last June.

Tiller was executive vice president of Crystal Bay Development Co., which was set up at Lake Tahoe in 1960 to develop 9,000 acres purchased from Capt. George Whittell. He continued until Sept. 30 with the new owners, Incline Village Inc., a wholly–owned subsidary of United States Land Inc., to assist the new management.

Tiller has been associated with Wood for 23 years. They worked together in Oklahoma City for 15 years in public accounting before coming to Lake Tahoe to develop Incline Village.

Tiller has made no announcement of his future plans except to say that he will keep his home at Incline Village where he has a daughter, Nancy, in high school and a son, Larry, in the University of Nevada.

Tiller is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma and has been active in accounting and management consulting during his career.

Planning Unit Slates Tour

CRYSTAL BAY – Tahoe Regional Planning Commission will begin its all–day session on Oct. 9 at the Crystal Bay Club here at 10 a.m.

After a noon luncheon, members will leave at 1:30 p.m. on a bus tour of Incline and Washoe County basin areas.

Broken Main Halts Cars

North – and south–bound traffic was held up on Highway 28 at Carnelian Bay for two and a half hours last Wednesday while a crew from Southwest Gas Corporation repaired an accidentally broken gas line. Traffic was temporarily re–routed through Truckee.

There were no injuries from the accident or during repairs which continued until 3 a.m. Thursday.

William Hay of Southwest Gas said a Frontier Construction Co. shovel digging for the new sewer line "accidentally pulled over a little too far to one side and a shovel tooth hit the line."

It was a 16–inch main gas feed line. Within minutes 15 gas company men were on the scene and worked with the aid of breathing equipment throughout the day and night. Hay said danger of explosion and fire was minimized by the fact that natural gas is lighter than air and disperses rapidly into the atmosphere. He said customer gas service was maintained throughout the entire time although gas pressure was lowered to allow the men to make the temporary repairs.

Msgr. Thomas E. Horgan

Msgr. Thomas E. Horgan, who served Roman Catholic pastorates in Truckee, Calif. and Carson City during his many years in California and Nevada, died Friday in a Sacramento Hospital.

Father Horgan, 89, was the youngest priest in the old Sacramento diocese when he arrived there in 1903 from his native Ireland. The diocese then included the area east of the Sierra and north through Modoc. He served many years as rector of the Cathedral of the Blessed Sacramento in Sacramento, and was pastor in Marysville from 1942 until his retirement in January, 1962.

Father Horgan was a brother of J. E. Horgan of Reno, who died in October, 1967. Among survivors are two nephews, Jack and Tom Horgan of Reno, and a niece, Mrs. Eileen Orr of Sacramento.

Father Horgan was the first priest to serve regularly in the Lake Tahoe area, and he established the pastorate at Tahoe City. His diocese was the entire eastern Sierra, which he covered, first by horseback, then by buckboard wagon and team, still later by railroad and finally by automobile.

A Requiem Mass was offered at 10 a.m. today in St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Marysville. The clergy will recite the Office of the Dead at eight o'clock this evening in The Church of the Blessed Sacramento in Sacramento. A Concelebrated Pontifical Mass of Requiem will be offered at the cathedral Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. with Archbishop McGucken presiding. Burial will be in the priests' plot in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Old Truckee Bug Station On The Block

The State Department of General Services has notified four local governmental agencies that the old Truckee quarantine station property just west of here is going to be sold.

The policy of the department provides that priority be given to requests from other agencies before offering surplus parcels for sale to the general public.

The Tahoe–Truckee School District, the County of Nevada, Truckee Public Utility District and the Truckee–Donner Recreation District have each been notified that the property is now for sale at a price of $58,–000. The entities have until Nov. 26 to advise the department if they wish to purchase the 2.312 acres and the improvements which consists of the inspection station and a single–family residence.

A recently enacted assembly bill requires that the County Park and Recreation Department also be notified of the property availability.

Francis Longo, manager of the Truckee Public Utility District, said that agency is anxious to obtain the property if satisfactory financing arrangements can be made. He said the quarantine station could be used to store equipment and provide the district with an office. The district owns adjacent land on which is located the present warehouse and storage facilities and the property for sale by the state would complete the district's needs for more adequate room.

County Health Department In Mouse Warning

This is the time of the year when mice and other rodents often seek refuge in homes and basements.

The Nevada County Health Department offers the following suggestions for control of these pests:

All openings around pipes and corners should be closed, preferably with tin or metal flashing. Mice can enter through openings as small as one–half inch.

Traps should be set along walls rather than in the open. They should be set ar right angles to the wall; peanut butter makes a good bait.

Poison baits are also effective, and can be obtained in most hardware stores or markets.

Care should be used in using both traps and poisons to be sure that children and household pets do not have access to them.

A limited amount of poison grain, supplied by the county agriculture commissioner, is available without charge at the county government center, Gateway, room 8.

Mice are destructive animals that can carry human disease, and are a nuisance around the home.

Claim Social Contract Rejection Is Anarchy

A few conturies ago, philosophers spent a lot of time mulling over a problem that presents itself again in our time, according to a dispatch from Regional News Service this week.

The problem was how to justify society's control over the actions of individuals. They made much of the individual's rights and of how society's controls infringed them. Yet they saw clearly that without some control the alternative was anarchy.

They came up with the theory of the "social contract." Under this "contract," individuals, in return for the protection that society affords them and for the servies it renders them, yield some or a portion of their rights.

For example, accepting the protection of their lives and property, they enter into an unwritten agreement to obey the laws respecting lives and property enacted by society with the courts protecting them against the arbitrary exercise power, the news service stated.

The way things are going in this country these days, many seem to regard this theoretical "contract" as having been abrogated or turned into a one-way street. They claim the protection without feeling any reciprocal oblication. They expressly repudiate any limitation on their own actions.

Hippies, yippies, draft card burners and other unruly types too numerous to mention fall into this class.

Maybe it's time to restudy the "social contract" and if found still valid, to re–emphasize the reciprocal oblications of the individual. The alternative, now as in the Middle Ages, is anarchy.

Masters Is Candidate

Robert Masters, M.D., Tahoe City, has announced his candidacy for election to the Tahoe Forest Hospital Board of Directors. He is seeking one of the two vacancies on the board created by the expiration of the four–year terms of Gardiner Pier, M.D., of Squaw Valley, and William Vail of Soda Springs. Dr. Pier is not seeking reelection, but Vail is bidding for a second term.

Other candidates for the two posts are Joseph Aguera, Truckee: E. O. Hendrickson, M.D., Donner Lake; and Raymond Huston, Squaw Valley.

The district election will coincide with the general election on November 5.

Funeral services were held Sunday at Incline Village Presbyterian Church for Harold E. Murphy, 69–year–old onetime part owner of the North Shore Club at Crystal Bay, who died Friday in a Reno hospital.

He was a partner with his stepson, James E. Hume, from 1949 until he sold his interest in the casino to Hume. Before coming to Lake Tahoe, Murphy was the general manager for Warner Brothers in New York City.

He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, Al Malaikah Shrine Temple in Los Angeles, the Loyal Order of Jesters and the Lions Club, and was a past patron of the Order of the Eastern Star in Palm Springs.

Surviving are his wife, Florence Murphy, and Hume, both of Crystal Bay, a granddaughter and three great–grandchildren.

The Candidates Corner

Duff Charges Constables Are Campaigning On County Time

A complaint of political campaigning by county employees while on county time was voiced in Auburn Tuesday, Oct. 2, by Douglas Duff, write-in candidate for Placer County supervisor.

In a letter delivered at Tuesday's board meeting to Joe Dewald, Placer County Counsel, and to supervisors Bill Briner and Will Jones, Duff charged that county constables were working on behalf of one of Duff's opponents, incumbent supervisor Frank J. Paoli.

Duff's letter said, "I am reporting to you a subject of unlawful or questionable campaign action by tax-supported county constables while in uniform in county-supported vehicles."

"In May of this year, it was brought to my attention that certain campaign practices were being conducted by some county constables while in uniform. Without personally observing this, I disregarded the information until last Tuesday, Sept. 24. In Forest Hill I saw Angelo Scalise, in uniform and driving a Placer County Scout, in the early afternoon going in and out of business establishments installing placards for the incumbent Mr. Paoli."

Duff also said, "I observed Mr. Elmer Williams, constable for the Weimar-Colfax area, prior to the primary election carrying placards and bumper stickers in his vehicle while he was in full uniform and on duty. This was on Auburn Street in Colfax. In September, I observed the same paraphanalia fully exposed to view while his vehicle was parked in front of the Justice Court in Colfax and he was inside the court on duty."

He concluded his letter by saying, "I must report a comment made to me by a neighboring taxpayer, 'Doug, it's been going on for years. I never thought much about it until you brought it to my attention.'"

Duff lost in the primary election to two incumbent supervisors, Briner and Paoli, who are facing each other in the general election for a single seat on the board. Duff declared his write-in candidacy June 12.

Rose Issues Campaign Statement

"It has long been my feeling that our area has a great future providing it is given proper direction and support," was the statement made last week in Truckee by Zeph D. Rose, candidate for fifth district Nevada County supervisor, as he kicked off his campaign just six weeks prior to the general election in November.

Rose is facing Truckee businessman Willie Curran for the seat held for 25 years by Henry Loehr, who was defeated by the two challengers in the primary election last June.

"It is my belief that substantial improvement can be sustained in virtually every phase of our community — our economy, recreation facilities, our crime and law enforcement record, welfare, snow removal and road maintenance, and a fair return of our share of the tax burden," Rose stated.

He pointed to his experience in business, his activities in directing and administering various organizations, his familiarity with local and county problems, and his availability and willingness to work diligently for the fifth district as his qualifications for office.

"My first duty and responsibility is to the people of Truckee and Donner Lake and the outlying communities of the district, to see that they are fully and honestly represented on the board of supervisors. My second duty is to Nevada County and to all of its people. If I do a good job representing the district, then I will do a good job for the county."

Rose concluded his statement by saying, "Success is a totally unknown quantity. To be successful at anything requires experiencing it first. If I am given this chance by the voters of the fifth district, I pledge myself to represent them to the best of my energy, time, and ability, and to be as successful a county supervisor as I possibly can."

Financing Said Major School Need

JACKSON, Calif. – Walter E. Regan, Republican candidate for Third District State Senate seat in the Nov. 5 election, said the most pressing political problem facing education today is "financing of our schools."

He said, "From elementary, secondary, junior college and university, the great press of students requires new facilities and greater numbers of teachers. And we have not begun to feel the pressures of these increased needs."

Regan warned that "traditional means of financing by local property tax and state and federal subventions cannot carry this burden."

"I don't think we can or ever need to spend a lot more property taxpayers' money as my opponent suggests, to meet this crisis – instead I think we need a general redirection. Education must have first priority by society, ahead of all other governmental functions."

The Modesto businessman said a new direction school financing could take would be complete state responsibility for plant construction budgets. The local property tax, he said can no longer bear this burden without seriously affecting home ownership and farm and business economic vitality.

Methods which could be explored, Regan said, are broad-based sales and use taxes enabling all segments of our society to contribute to education.

Regan called an educated citizenry our nation's "greatest natural resource," a fact too often overlooked.

"All of us as parents, citizens, taxpayers are responsible for what we have in our schools and what we attain in our educational system. We get what we really want badly enough to require, demand, insist upon in our public schools," he said.

Regan is facing Sen. Stephen P. Teale in the general election.

Hodder Named On Teale Team In Truckee

Fred Hodder of Truckee, manager of the Truckee Sanitary District, has been named as eastern Nevada county co-chairman of the Nevada County Committee to Re-Elect Senator Teale.

Hodder will coordinate Teale campaign activities in the Truckee-Donner Lake areas. Mrs. Lou Kennedy of Grass Valley and Neil Hennessy of Nevada City, are the Teale campaign co chairmen in the western end of the county.

"I am delighted to be able to help in the campaign to re-elect Steve Teale," Hodder said in accepting the appointment. "In the two years since Steve Teale has taken over representation of Nevada county, I have never known him to turn down a request for help from a resident of his district. He has been of enormous help to us here in our project to protect Donner Lake from Pollution. He has been a pioneer in the field of water pollution legislation and it makes me happy to know that he is in Sacramento watching out for ou interests. I think our interests dictate that we return Steve Teale to Sacramento."

Nevada Ban Is Lifted

CARSON CITY – Nevada Division of Forestry has begun removing closed area signs from the Sierra Fire District as cool weather reduces the fire hazard in western Nevada.

Gov. Paul Laxalt closed the area west of U. S. 395 Sept. 4 when fire conditions became extreme. But State Forester George Zappettini reports the lower fire danger no longer requires the complete closure.

Although vehicle and foot traffic will be allowed to move freely through forested areas, certain conditions of the governor's closure will continue through the unting season.

Set Holy Communion At Tahoe City Sunday

Rev. Clarence R. Haden, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Sacramento, will conduct holy communion at St. Nicholas Episcopal Church at Tahoe City Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. This was announced by Rev. James M. Buxton, deacon of the church, officiating during the absence of the pastor.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, SIERRA SUN:

It would seem to me that those who profess that the people have a choice at the ballot box could do well to give them that opportunity.

It's apparent to me that the recent primary for Placer's fifth district was a case where the two incumbents, Mr. Biner and Mr. Paoli, never campaigned against each other, knowing that the three challengers would split the vote. They are figuring that the regional block vote would bring them roses.

Their complete lack of debate against each other makes one wonder if there was a deal. Knowing, of course, that "Let's sit tight together and one of us will win."

Fortunately for the fifth district, Douglas Duff is "Rocking the Boat." As Douglas Duff has stated so clearly, almost 1,700 voters wanted a change in the primary, while only approximately 1,100 voted for either of the incumbents.

I believe Mr. Paoli stated publicly that he is "tired of the whole mess." If so, he should give the voters a change and let some new blood run in the veins of our local government. The voters certainly want a change by their past experience in the steady rise of taxes, and if we don't make this change I'm sure we'll see more of the same thing — higher taxes. You and I know a lot of retired folks here had to sell off their land because of the high tax rate here in Placer County.

Let's write in Douglas Duff in November and let him prove what he can do for the taxpayer. ("Don't forget your pencils!")

Here's Riley

By ERNIE RILEY

As noted in last week's column, I am alergic to gasoline fumes and I visited our good doctor, who prescribed pills and various baths, to cure our ills, along with a shot – guess where? Next step was to the hospital in Truckee.

I started to feel better as we entered the reception room and noticed what a nice hospital we have. The lawns are so well kept and the flowers so beautiful and well cared for. The receptionist was very friendly and efficient. In moments, we were taken to the emergency room to visit our doctor.

Here we had to wait awhile as a new soul had chosen this time to be born in the high Sierra. This occasion needed our doctor's attention so during this waiting period we were allowed to explore some of the workings or our hospital and staff.

We found everything in apple-pie order. Everyone was very friendly and so efficient that even the patients we spoke to seemed happy and contented.

As soon as our doctor was free, we had a nice visit except for a few words about what we had not done and few more words about what we should do from now on.

As we took our leave, we stopped by the canteen operated by the ladies auxiliary, where patients may buy coffee, candy, and gifts, and visitors may also purchase items. Items like hand-knitted toe-warmers for the tootsies that peek out of plaster casts. These come in several appropriate colors and should be in demand real soon. The auxiliary ladies are all volunteers and they do a fine job.

We found our visit a rewarding experience, even with the harsh words from our doctor and the needle jab in the rear from a smiling nurse. We appreciate our hospital and staff and hope you do also. God bless them all. * * *

They built a nice house on the Truckee River a few months ago. They furnished it for mountain living and are now good neighbors. A few days ago, thieves arrived in what must have been a large truck, and more than one person as they broke in and removed all the furnishing — bedroom and living room furniture, and kitchen things as well as personal belongings.

Any information as to who may have done this deed will be appreciated, as we can do without this sort of thing.

We're sure everyone noticed how much Olympic track coach Payton Jordan looks like Governor George Romney in last week's Sierra Sun. Startling.

SUNBEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

From the press we learn that the Sacramento Municipal Utilities District plans to seed storm clouds over the mountains to provide additional run-off of snow water in the spring. It is claimed that $250,000 in water value can be obtained if the tests, to be conducted at a cost of some $40,000 are successful.

This may be fine for the valley but we can't help but wonder what effect the tests will have on the mountain folks. Usually we have all the snow we need and there are some winters when there is entirely too much, such as occurred in 1950, when we were advised cloud seeding was being tested.

Naturally, we want the people in the valley to have ample water and we want plenty of snow in the mountains to satisfy winter resort operators, but we hesitate to approve this fooling around with nature to accomplish what the proponents desire. There have been few winters in recent years when there had been any dirth of snow and we hope the tests, if tests are actually conducted, are failures.

Once again the routine at the Tahoe-Truckee High School has been disrupted by a bomb scare. It become increasingly apparent that these scares are designed to upset the school officials and in that they are succeeding. We feel sure that the culprit, or culprits, will be apprehended sooner or later and we trust that suitable punishment will be meted out to end this nuisance once and forever.

Trem Talk

By BETTY SHIVELY

We are slowly getting used to the routine of the school day and school week. But why is it always the most difficult to get one's brain in gear on Monday morning?

To get our minds functioning last Monday morning we had an activity schedule. The Girls League met for the first time this year. New class representatives were elected. This year's president is Miss Sally Monroe. Also the CSF met to elect new officers: president, Betty Shively; vice president, John Miron; secretary, Sally Starratt; treasurer, Mickie Barker; student council representative, Darlene Feathers. This fall semester group totals 30 students, but only 5 seniors (girls)!

Second period on Tuesday was reserved for the student council meeting. Senior privileges was the main order of business. Should seniors work for their traditional privileges or be forced to give up one of their precious gifts to the underclassmen? The classes decided not, so the matter was dropped.

Another subject of great concern is still the dress code. The principal disagreement is that the high school has the same dress code as the three elementary schools. The style of dress isn't so drastically different between the age groups, yet when it comes to the men's hair and whiskers, the high school fellows feel that there should be some changes. For better or for worse?

* * *

The Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test will be offered here at TNT the morning of Tuesday, October 22. The test is primarily for Juniors and Seniors who plan to take the full-scale S.A.T. for college entrance purposes at some later date. The cost is $1, payable on the day of the exam. At the present time, 35 tests have been ordered. Additional tests can be ordered if needed, and the school knows the number required well ahead of the test date. If you plan to take the P.S.A.T., signup with Mr. Brehler today and receive your copy of the bulletin of information.

G.A.A. president Cheryl Bechdolt has taken the girls out on the field for the seasons glaf football. Be sure to buy a G.A.A. card, girls. This group meets after school once or twice a week for fun and games. When are we going to challenge the boys for a game of football, Cheryl?

* * *

Can anyone carry a tune? Play a guitar? How about a Kazoo? If so, you are needed in the Song Fest. Remember the Song Fest o' Fall we've had in past years? Get a group together if you don't care to perform alone, but don't be shy — sing out. See Mr. Greg Hill for details and sign up.

* * *

The Senior Superlatives were elected this week. A boy and girl were elected the best in each catagory as follows:

Most humerous, Sally Monroe, Ryan Houlgate; most athletic, Cheryl Bechdolt, Curt Wurst; best smiles, Shelly Wilson, Mike Alves; shyest, Phyllis Brown, Eric Poulsen; friendliest, Linda Lundgrem, Steve Silverri; best dressed, Mickie Barker, Bernie Huckle; most dependable, Jan Price, Bob Everson; best looking, Sharon Roberts, Bob Walters; best personality, Kathie Marco, George Franeschini; biggest flirt, Linda Dwyer, Augie Acosta; most talented: Sandy Martin, Mark Sullivan; best dancer, Kathy Mockaitis, Butch Street; most likely to succeed, Sue Hawkins, Jeff Jellin; biggest dimples, Patty Free, Steve Maynard; best all around, Sandi Davis, Tom Carnell; tallest girl and shortest boy, Cindy Fox and Bob Dunlap; tallest boy and shortest girl, Judy Terry, Mike Henderson; cutest couple, Brian Smart, Phyllis Brown.

Congratulations, Freshmen! You all did a great job in organizing and presenting the Kick-off Dance. The music was provided by Bob Fugazi's band, "The Waxed Roach." And something new in school dances — a light show was handled by Bob Sutton and his committee. And the refreshments were delicious! Did you ever have a cream puff at a school dance before?

* * *

Our next dance is Homecoming, Saturday, October 12. Boys ask your girls now before they all sign up for guest passes. The homecoming game is against Del Oro Eagles. Don't miss this thrill-packed episode of TNT football!

* * *

Last Saturday the football teams played a practice scrimmage at Portola. Since there was no rooter bus or organized rooting section, the good news had to travel by word-of-mouth. The varsity won the scrimmage and the JV's tied 0-0.

Truckee Library Receives Rare Art Work

LIBRARY GIFT — Rare bronze casting of an Indian head, executed by the late Hans Egon Riess, has been donated to the community library at Tahoe-Truckee High School by Mrs. Elsbeth Comstock, widow of the late H. O. Comstock; Riess carved the head while living in Canada. —Sun Photo

The community library at the Tahoe Truckee High School is the proud possessor of an art piece done by the late Hans Egon Riess donated to the library by Mrs. Elsbeth Comstock, widow of the late H. O. Comstock, formerly of Brockway now residing in Santa Monica.

It is a carved Indian head done by Riess while he was living in Canada. The carving, 11 inches high, is life sized and is highly prized by the librarian, Roy Baker.

It was announced that donations to the library in memory of Riess have been gratifying.

Brian's essay will compete with those of winners from Carson, Reno, Sparks, Zephyr Cove and Douglas County schools sixth grades for a grand prize of $45 and a second prize of $15.

Brian will also be among the winners appearing on television out of Reno on Oct. 10 at which time grand prize winners will be announced.

Judges for the grand prize will be Richard Bast, state fire marshall of Nevada, Robert Carrol of the Nevada Division of Forestry and Sherman Boyce of the U.S. Division of Forestry.

Warning By Ledford On Speedometer

The growing tendency to modify automobiles by using larger tires than the original equipment has resulted in many motorists exceeding the speed limit, Lt. O. P. Ledford of the Truckee office of the California Highway Patrol warns.

"The speedometer of an automobile is calibrated for the size of tire which originally was installed on the car," Lt. Ledford said.

"Increasing the size of the tire nullifies the calibration and destroys the accuracy of the speedometer. For example, changing from a 6.00 x 13 to 7.00 x 13 tire, which increases the cross-section by one inch, will result in substantially higher speed than that shown on the speedometer."

The Patrol recommends that any tire change of more than one-half inch in cross-section be accompanied by a recalibration of the speedometer, Lt. Ledford stated.

Another Bomb Scare At Truckee

For the second time in two weeks, a bomb scare at the Tahoe-Truckee High School last Wednesday morning caused alarm and resulted in a renewed search for the responsible culprit.

A 8:10 a.m. an anonymous telephone call was received by Mrs. Helen Armstrong, secretary to Principal Harold Drummond. The caller warned:

"There's a bomb in the building," and hung up.

The school was evacuated as a precaution while sheriff's deputies, firemen and other officials made a thorough search for the premises. No bomb was found and classes were resumed. Any delay in classes will be made up after school hours, Superintendent John S. Corbin has ordered.

A similar scare was recorded on Sept. 12 at about the same hour and officials believe that the same person was responsible for the idiotic act and renewed efforts to identify the person are being made.

Indian summer has arrived and how colorful the landscape is becoming. The yellow leaves of the goosberry, willow and thimble berries look so striking against the green pines. Fall is here. That cold snap and snow did it. Won't be long now before the aspen trees start their vivid hues.

Isn't it fun to watch the pine nuts spinning to earth as they drop from opening cones. Those pesky needles are still falling, another raking job necessary.

Boats are gradually being left high and dry on beaches, won't be long before that walk around the lake edge can be taken.

Fishing is beginning to pick up, a 15 inch rainbow was caught off our pier the other day, a big fish compared to the little 8 inchers that have been pulled in lately.

Ernie LaVoi had to console himself last weekend, though, with the 4-pound mackinaw, his only catch this time. He's still top man in the Lions Club Fish Derby.

A strong northeast wind caused two Lido's to turn over during the races that determined the Donner Lake Sailing Club champs.

Receiving the most points was Bill Rainey of Reno; second was Fred Hodder, Truckee; Gene Montgomery, Reno, was third; Dick Good, Sacramento, fourth; Dick Lewis, Reno, fifth; Ed Wilkins, Truckee, sixth; Bob Watson, Cupertino, seventh; Ed Corum, Sacramento, eighth; and Evelyn Alexander, ninth. Evelyn received the fantail trophy, a fabulous original designed by Ed Corum a few years ago.

The cocktail party after Saturday's races was held in Commodore Hodder's lovely new home. Jan had many interesting hors d' oeuvres that were quickly devoured. The group then caravaned over to the Wilkin's for an equally delicious Shish-kabob dinner that Nancy had prepared, topped with a desert of Kahlua parfait.

"Our friend and we were invited abroad on a party of pleasure, which is to last forever. His chair was ready first, and he is gone before us. We could not all conveniently start together; and why should you and I be grieved at this, since we are soon to follow, and know where to find him." — Benjamin Franklin.

Deepest sympathy to Florence Murphy on the death of her husband, Harold, and to her son Jimmy Hume, and family. A warm, charming, witty, wonderful man whose passing leaves an emptiness in our lives that not even time will ease. To know him was to love him.

He, with his step-son, James E. Hume, founded the North Shore Club at Crystal Bay in 1949. Prior to that he was general manager for Warner Bros. in New York City. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, Al Malaikah Shrine Temple in Los Angeles, the Loyal Order of Jesters, the Lions Club and a past patron of the Order of the Eastern Star in Palm Springs. Services were held at the Presbyterian Church at Incline Village Sunday with Rev. Al Fry officiating; graveside services were held at Palm Springs.

Besides a summer residence at Crystal Bay, the Murphys maintained a villa at Alamos, Mexico, and Palm Springs.

Mrs. Richard Nixon, wife of the Republican candidate for president, held a press conference in Reno Wednesday for 17 women of the press at her suite in the Ponderosa Hotel. Mrs. Nixon was relaxed and talkative, touching on family rather than political issues and telling of her father's tales of adventures in Nevada where she was born. The conference was coordinated by Bonnie Angelo, special reporter from Time Magazine.

Bethel Van Tassel, a charter member of the Republican Women of North Lake Tahoe, organizer and charter member of the San Ramon Valley Republican Women at Danville, was honored to be present at her press conference.

Bethel had met both Pat and Richard Nixon when he was running for Senator in California and the Republican Women held a reception at the Diablo Country Club for them. When he was presidential candidate in 1960, Bethel, her sister, Ceta Hooper, Hazel James, Pat Lewis and Fritzi Briner were among the women who went to Auburn to meet Mrs. Nixon.

Speaking of Contra Costa County, we were interested to find Dorothy and Ted Marston have moved to this area from Walnut Creek. They were in the printing business in that area also. Dorothy is a member of a unit of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center of which Bethel Van Tassel belongs. Welcome to the Tahoe area!

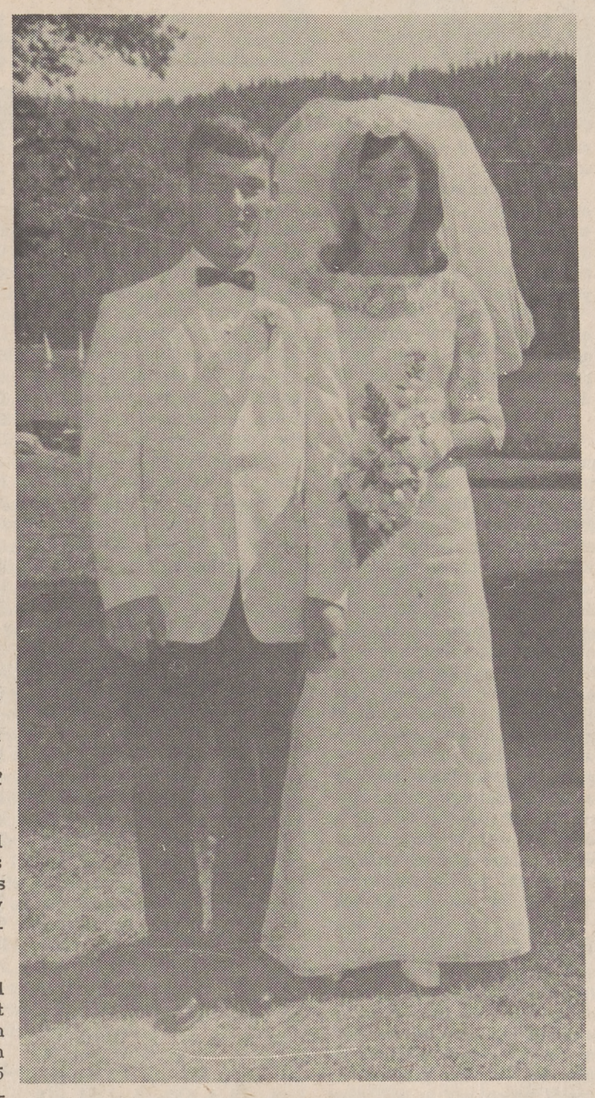
Guests Of Relatives

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Farrar of Donner Lake were guests of relatives in Kentucky earlier in the summer.

Barbara Curtis Married To James Hamlin



DONNER RECEPTION — Mr. and Mrs. James Hamlin pause for the camera during reception at Donner Lake Lodge following their wedding earlier this month. Mrs. Hamlin is the former Barbara Curtis of Truckee.

Pink and white provided the bridal party theme when Barbara Curtis became the bride of James Hamlin September 7 during double ring rites at Assumption Catholic Church in Truckee.

Father Connelley officiated at the formal 2 o'clock rites held before an altar banked with white chysanthemums.

The bride is the daughter of Carman J. Curtis of Truckee and Mrs. Lois Clay of Martinez, Calif. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hamlin of Eureka, Calif.

Susan Curtis was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were another sister, Tamara Curtis, and Loraine Davis. Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Jack Hamlin. David Curtis and Brian Smart were ushers. Dianne Daly had charge of the guest book.

The bride chose a scoop-neck gown with bracelet sleeves and made of white chantilly lace and silk organza. The floor-length empire skirt was appliqued in lace. A deep band of lace at the bottom rose to a point in front and her cathedral length train fell from the waist in back. Her triple shoulder-length veil fell from a silk petal cluster trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a cascade of white roses and white elegance.

The bride's attendants all wore pale pink taffeta sheath gowns with carnation pink overdress of organza. They carried long stem pink roses.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Clay chose a two piece silver grey dress and jacket ensemble with white mink cowl collar. It was complimented by silver grey accessories.

The mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Hamlin, chose a white suit trimmed with silver sequins for her son's wedding.

Mrs. C. J. Curtis wore a pale blue knit suit with black accessories. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. R. C. Curtis of Benecia, Calif., was gowned in grey satin with lace overskirt.

Following a reception at Donner Lake Lodge, Mr. and Mrs. Hamlin left on a honeymoon. They are now at home in Rueka, Calif.

The new Mrs. Hamlin is a graduate of Truckee schools. Her bridegroom attends Humboldt State College where he is majoring in forestry.

Celebration For St. Francis

Friday, September 27, was a day of celebration for St. Francis of Assisi Parish at Incline Village. Bishop Joseph Green began the festivity on a solemn note with a Concelebrated Mass in honor of St. Francis of Assisi at the parish on Kelly Drive.

Assisting in the concelebration were Rev. F. J. Cohan, pastor of the parish, and Rev. Phillip D. Donnell, languages professor of Bishop Manogue High School, Reno.

An open house for the entire parish was held following the mass, with St. Francis of Assisi Guild in charge of refreshments. The sisters of Sacred Heart took charge of the children, while parents formed a line of introduction to Bishop Green.

Highlight of the day was a dinner in the Crystal Room of the Crystal Bay Club, with the entire parish and guests present. Charles Gould and his Satin Strings entertained with medleys of Irish Ballads and dance music.

The Bishop gave an informal talk, congratulating the parish on its work and plans for the future, stressing in particular the architectural plans for the new church with a seating capacity of 650, to be erected on Mt. Rose Highway at Kelly Drive. Building plans are under the direction of William Montgomery of Incline Village.

Chamber Pot-Shots:

By BETTY LAYTON

Radio Church of God window posters are available for chamber members to display in their windows to welcome our good friends to the area October 6 – 13. Stop by the office in Tahoe City.

The annual general membership meeting, October 30, promises to be an outstanding one this year. It will be at the Chataux which is under the new, competent management of Jim Carey, who is an experience, professional restaurant and business person. One of their gourmet dinners is planned and the table decorations again this year will be by Eileen Wilen of Kings Beach.

The new excellent movie on Lake Tahoe, narrated by Governor Reagan, will be shown and a notable guest speaker will be featured, followed by a short year-end report by president Dave Stollery. Six new directors will be voted upon at the meeting. Reservations may be made at the chamber office.

A special board of directors meeting was held Wednesday at the Tahoe Inn. It was called for the purpose of hearing the recommendations of the By-Laws Committee. The directors voted unanimously to retain the present number of twenty to serve on the Board. However, they recommended a shorter term of office from the present four years. The director's recommendations will be incorporated with the committee's report and presented to the new officers and directors when they assume their new term of office in November.

The chamber is proud to announce that among its new promotions within this year's program of activites is an attractive billboard promoting North Lake Tahoe, which is located on Interstate 80 in the Bay Area near the Carquinez Bridge. This sign started as a joint effort between Alpine Meadows and the Tahoe City Motel Association. The chamber has most recently taken over the motel's interest in the sign.

Chamber activity has increased in every respect during the past year and the present office is bulging at the seams. The office will move across the street to the new chalet-type building and share the street floor with Taneva Parts. The new office will be spacious, with room for committee meetings, and will have an ample reception room for the ever increasing tourist traffic. Another girl is hired to start in November for the Ski Tahoe North reservation service, and the additional space is a necessity for that too.

North Lake Tahoe's county chamber representatives, Bill McCreary, Ralph Rauscher, Tim Sullivan, and Bill and Norma Parson attended a monthly meeting in Forest Hill Thursday night. County chamber president Betty Velican appointed the following persons from North Tahoe to act on the county chamber's committees: Bill McCreary, chairman of the industrial committee; Doris Estabrook, Beautification; Jim Alcorn, Roads and Highways; Ralph Rauscher, Legislative; and Bill Parson, Promotion.

Welcome to new members of the week: Bowl Incline, Incline Village; Mountain Maintenance Co., Kings Beach; Schubert's Restaurant, Kings Beach; and Feakins Lodge, Tahoma.

Inadvertently, we did not acknowledge the work of two Emblem Club Ladies Nell Gillmore and Ann Everett who spent many hours helping on the Art Show at Sugar Pine Point Park the first week of September. It was because of the many volunteers who ran the show that it was a tremendous success.

Participation Is Key

RENO – "Many of us are aware of the fact government is inept in many social areas," Gov. Paul Laxalt told the Kiwanis Convention here Monday.

"What is needed," he said, "is citizen participation. We can't do the duties of government alone – we need participation of such groups as Kiwanis."

Laxalt said Nevada is in the midst of an inventory of government activities and services and "we would invite the help of Kiwanis and other clubs and citizens in this area."

He noted Nevada is attempting to outline ways the state government can serve the people more efficiently and become more responsive to their needs. He strongly urged interested citizens to take part in this effort and make their wishes known.

The governor applauded Kiwanians for past work in this area and urged continued government participation by this and other service clubs.

He explained the government would turn its attention to those areas people indicated it was needed, and urged interested citizens to "become personally involved."

With tongue in cheek, Laxalt cautioned, "Proceeds from gaming in Nevada go directly into education . . . so take it easy on how much you win, as this may interfere with the meaningful education of our youngsters."

During the luncheon period the visitors were entertained by the Key Club mariachi band from Sonora High School, La Habra, Calif.; Beryl Williams, comedian appearing at Nevada Lodge on Lake Tahoe's North Shore; and Karen Smith, accordionist, just back from entertaining troops in Vietnam.

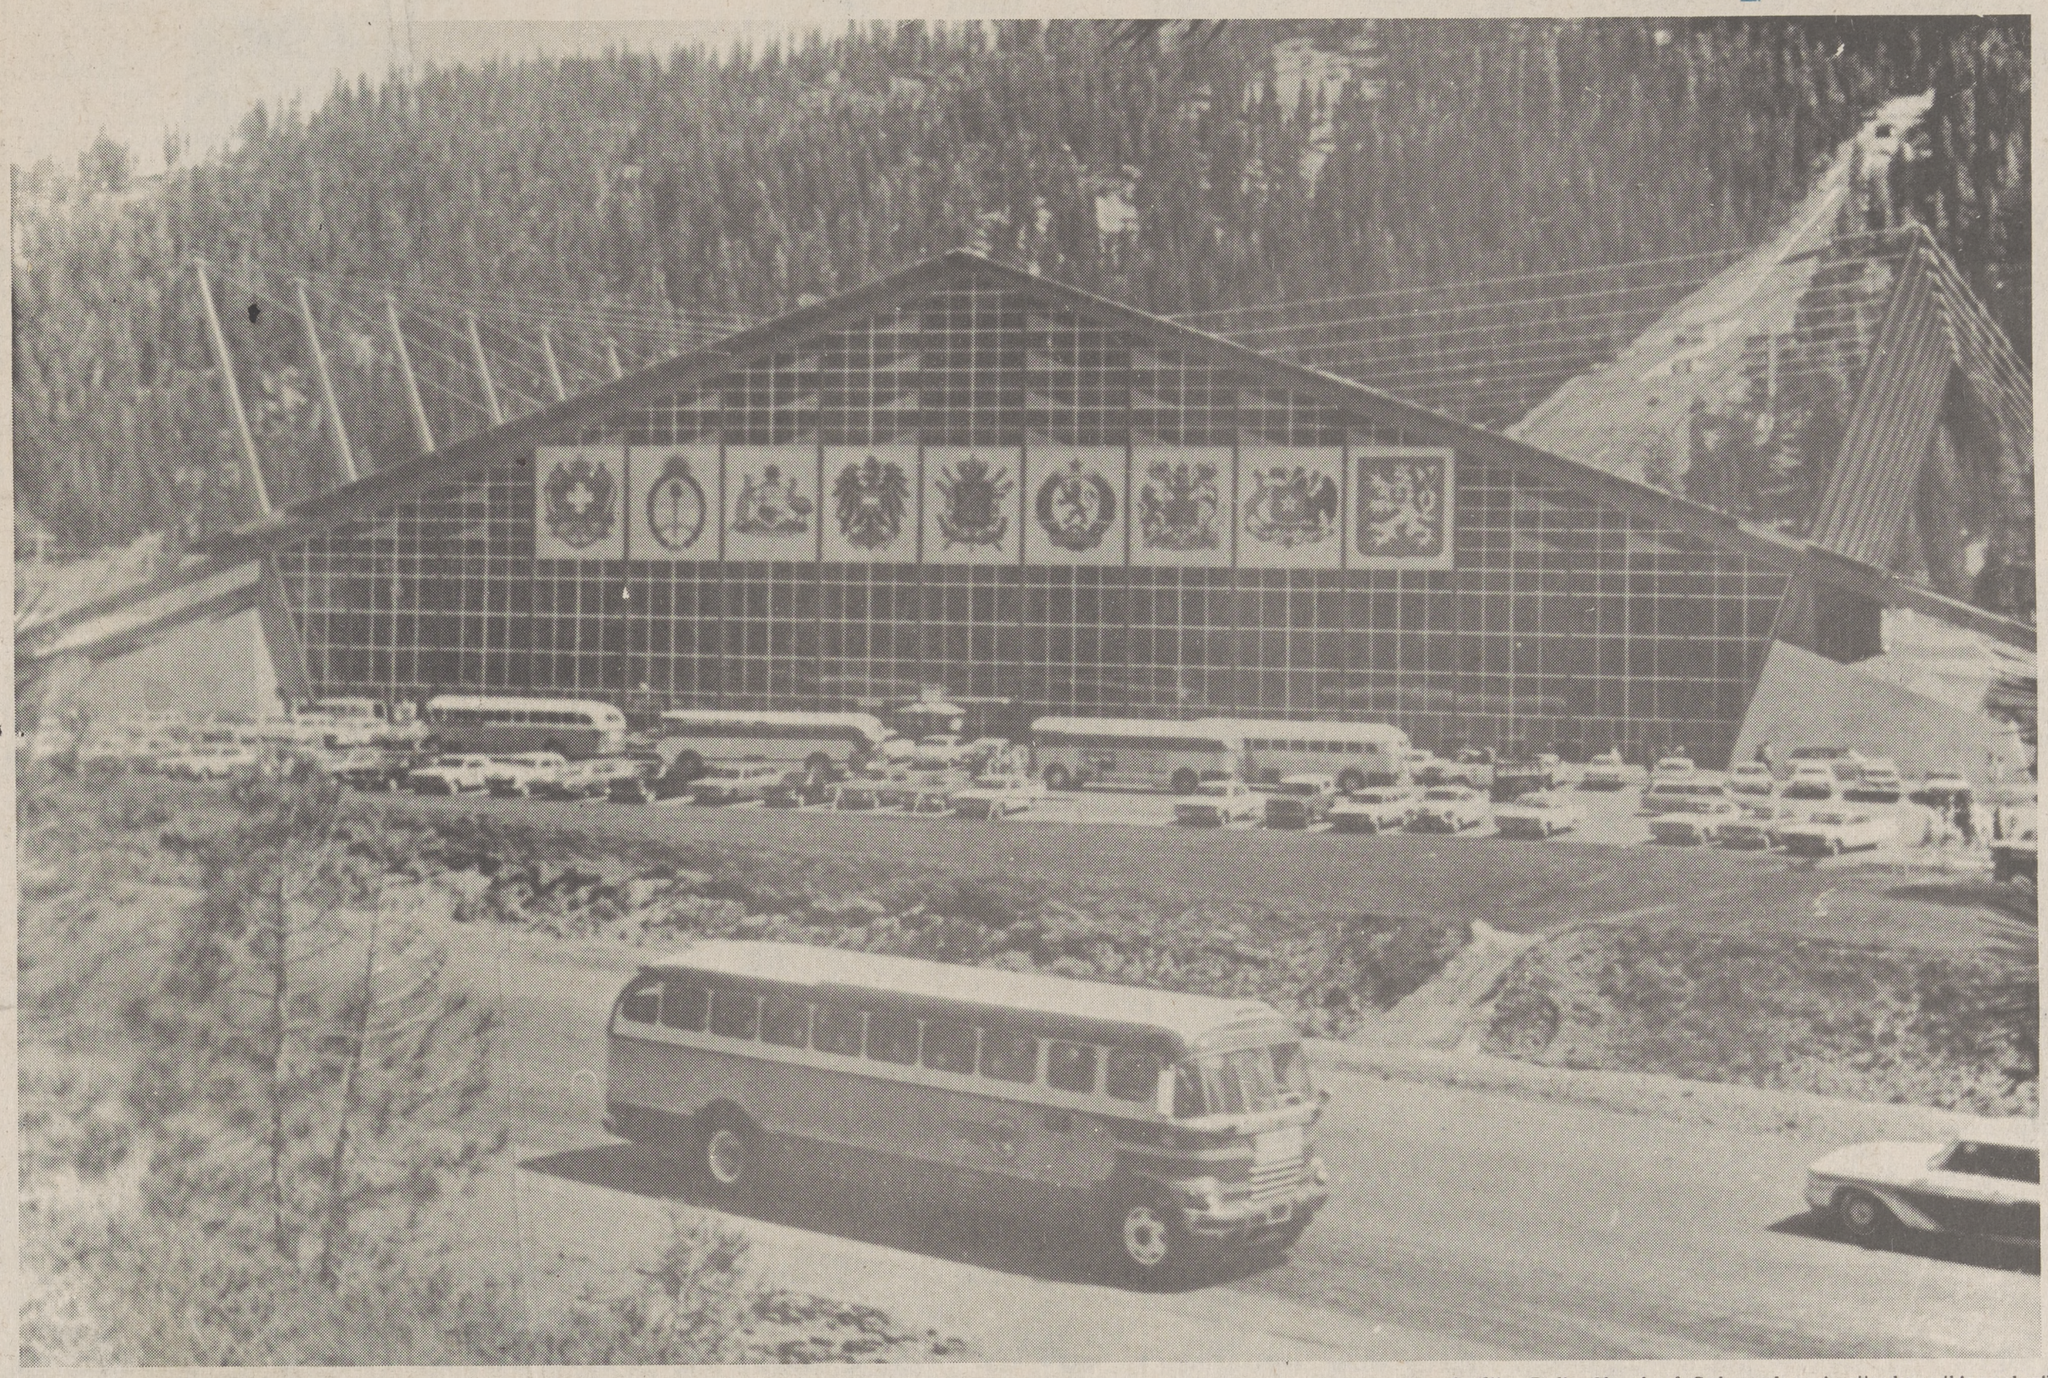
Radio Church Of God Meets At Squaw Valley



CONVENTION TIME AT BLYTHE ARENA — Squaw Valley's famous Olympic Games ice arena is the annual site of the Radio Church of God convention; arena is administered by State of California and is used all year for ice shows, figure-skating schools, conventions, and other functions requiring large indoor facility; Radio Church of God members in attendance this week will number over 8,000. — SKIAPA Photo

Meet Here For Seventh Year

The Radio Church of God opens its annual convention this weekend in Squaw Valley, with some 8,500 members expected to attend the week-long meeting.

The conference marks the largest single gathering of people in the Lake Tahoe area during the year. Daily sessions will be conducted in Blythe Arena.

The church, with headquarters in Pasadena, is returning to Squaw Valley for the seventh year.

This special section of the Sierra Sun commemorating the occasion is published with the cooperation of merchants and businessmen in the North Lake Tahoe and Truckee area.

Blythe Arena Olympic Site

The Olympic Arena where visitors are attending the current Radio Church of God meeting was built from a prize-winning design.

A scant 10 years ago architects of the building were awarded first prize over 600 other entries in the nationwide Progressive Architecture design awards for 1958. This was two years before the building was opened to the public for the Olympic Games.

As the visitor looks around the building he will notice there are no inside supports to obstruct vision. Instead architects Corlett & Spackman—Kitchen & Hunt used bridge-like suspension cables to support the roof.

The roof spans 300 feet and slopes upward to a height of 90 feet, which is equivalent to an 8-story building. Two and one-half inch cables are strung from sixteen columns, also 90 feet hight. This permits the whole roof structure to move up and down as much as 22 inches as the snow load and and temparature changes cause supporting cables to expand and contract. A flexible connection at the top of the ridge allows the roof movement.

Historic Squaw Valley Early Indian Retreat

As you drive for the first time into Squaw Valley, lush and verdant this time of year, dazzling white under powdery snow in the winter, you'll see the same mountains, the same streams, that early Indians saw somewhere around 500 A.D. They were members of the Washoe tribe that had been pushed into the high Sierra by strong and warlike Paiute Indians from the east.

Here the Washoe women made their camps, collecting grass and wild onions for food and reeds and animal pelts for clothing. From these early women the area acquired the name Squaw Valley.

Here also, and where you're now meeting, existed the gold-rush town of Knoxville, where its 1,000 hardy and necessarily rough-bitten souls soon gave up their fruitless search for gold, leaving behind them nothing but the surrounding magnificent setting.

Today's Squaw Valley is still magnificently and beautifully awesome. Site of the 1960 winter Olympic Games, it's natural winter facilities yearly attract thousands of winter recreation addicts to challenge its steep slopes which drop dizzily from some 9,000 feet to the valley's floor at 6,200 feet.

A score of million dollars has modernized the valley where Indian squaws prepared their rude meals but as you look about you'll view the same Squaw Valley early settlers marveled at the century ago. The three most prominent peeks, Squaw, KT-22 and Papoose are a hundred years older.

But eteranlly, they look the same.

In the favorable weather of early autumn the men struggled to the top of the pass above Squaw Valley and found the western slopes beyond sprinkled with acorns – a better and more plentiful food than the roots they were used to. It seemed that they should move their families westward over the pass, but powerful tribes were ahead of them and looked upon the encroachment with disfavor.

With scalping parties to the east and west, the Washoes were forced to face out the bitterness of winter where they were. This, they found, was an impossible situation. As the snow piled up virtually all the game moved to lower elevations to the lands of the warrior tribes. The snow came in such depth that they could no longer forage, nor could their tents withstand its weight. Life itself was impossible. They were forced, like the animals, to hazard the arrows of the Piautes and retreat as far as they dared out of the uninhabitable mountains—or perish. For when the snow came to that part of the world, life vanished before it or beneath it.

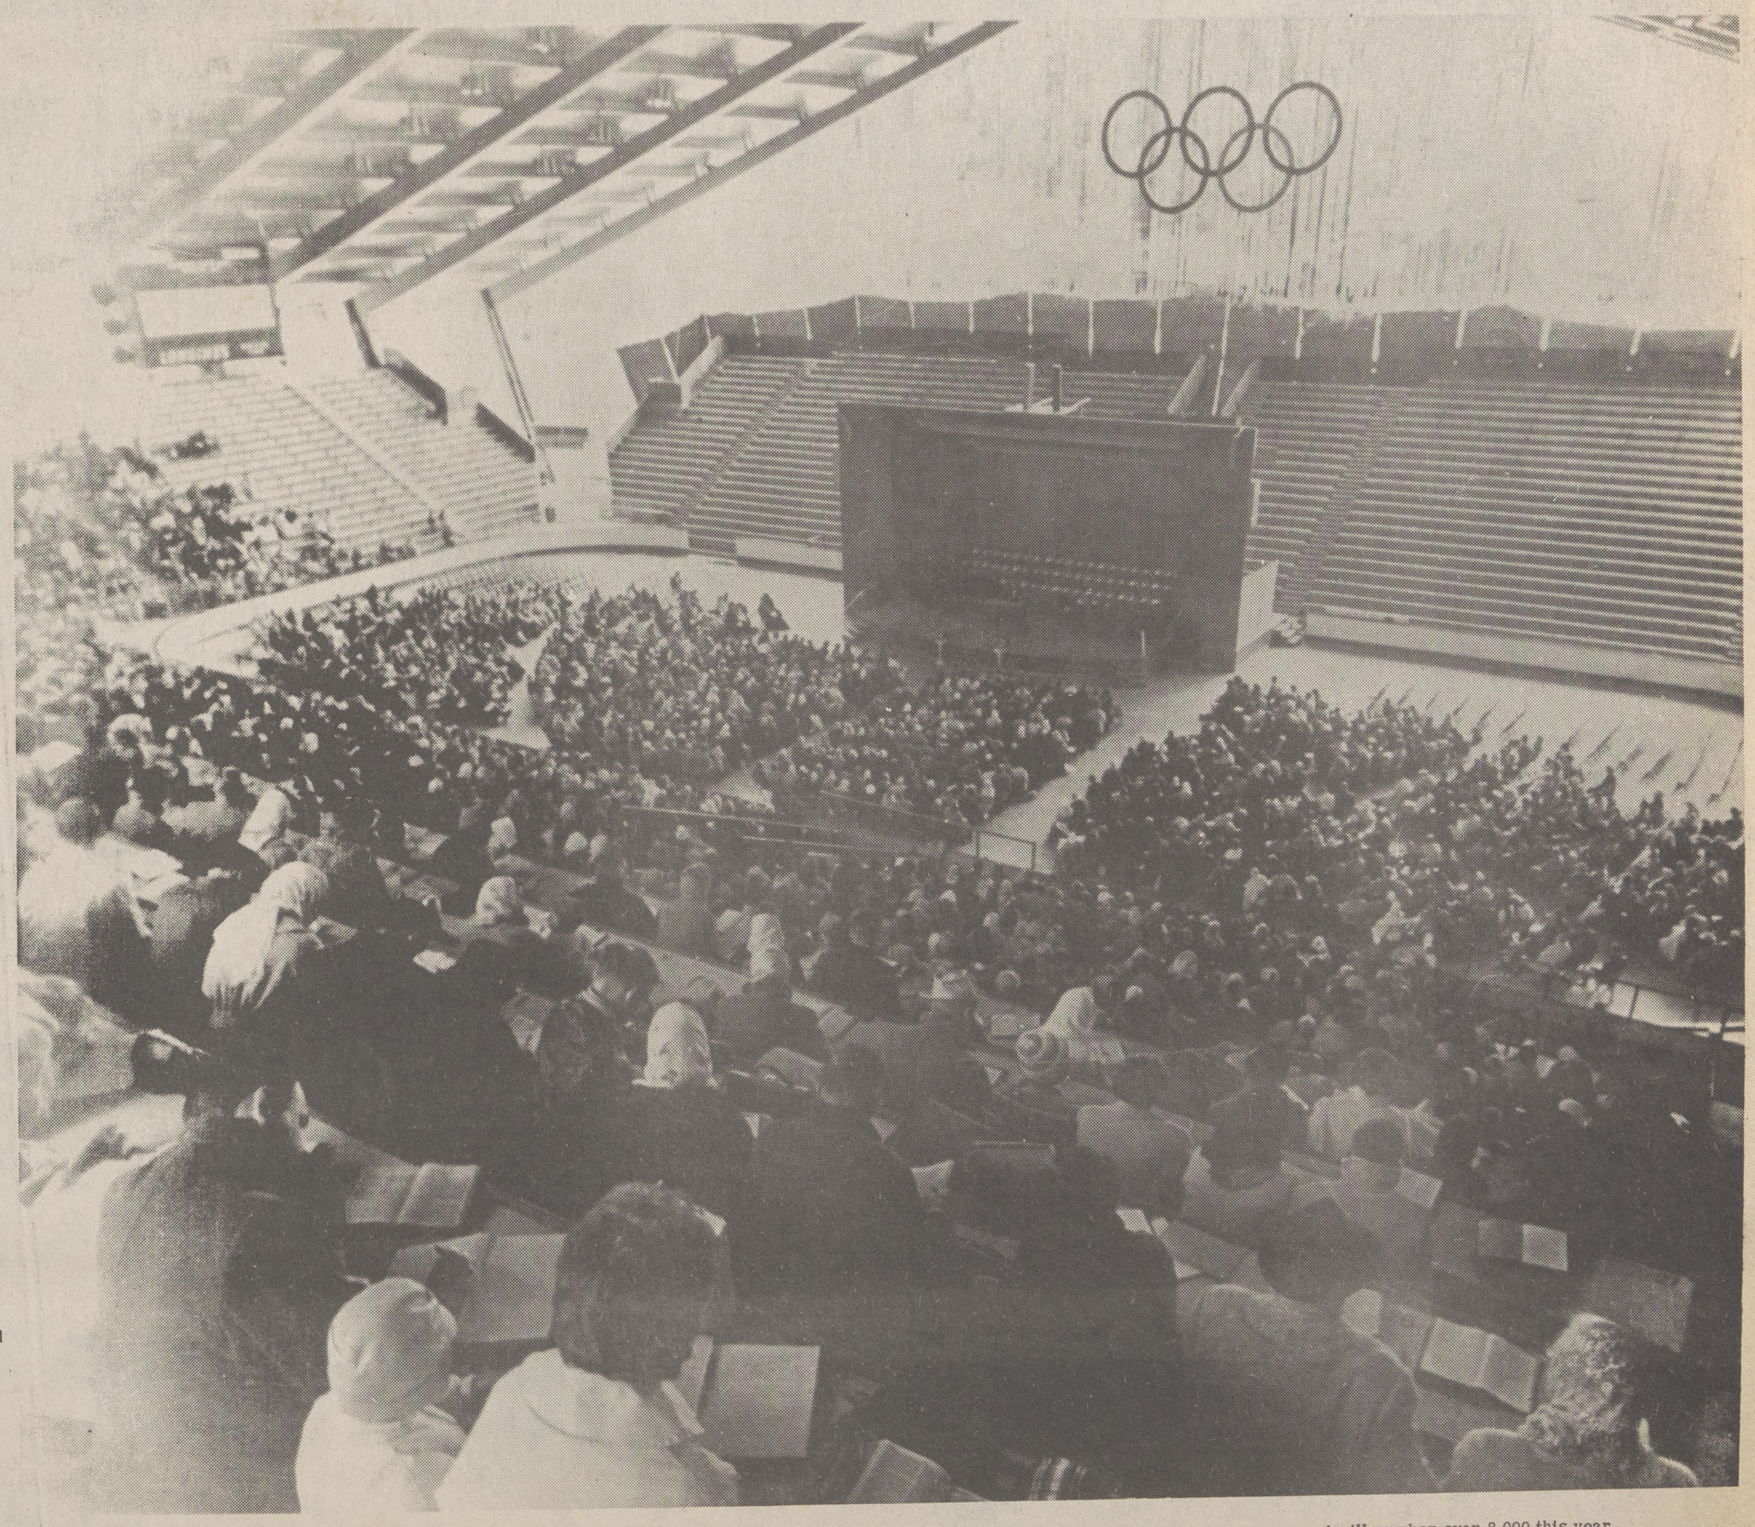
In this way, for thirteen centuries, the mountains to be known as the Sierra Nevada remained triumphant over the weak incursions of man.

It was not until the westward march of the white men that the mountains again were challenged. California had been reached by the ships of Portugal, Spain England, Russia, and America. The land became Spanish. Franciscan Padres established missions up and down the coast, each a day's journey from the next. And the Spanish built forts at Monterey and San Diego. Then came the Americans: trappers, lumbermen and fortune-seekers. They came by ship; but none came across the mountains. None were so foolish or so brave – none, that is, until Jedediah Strong Smith.

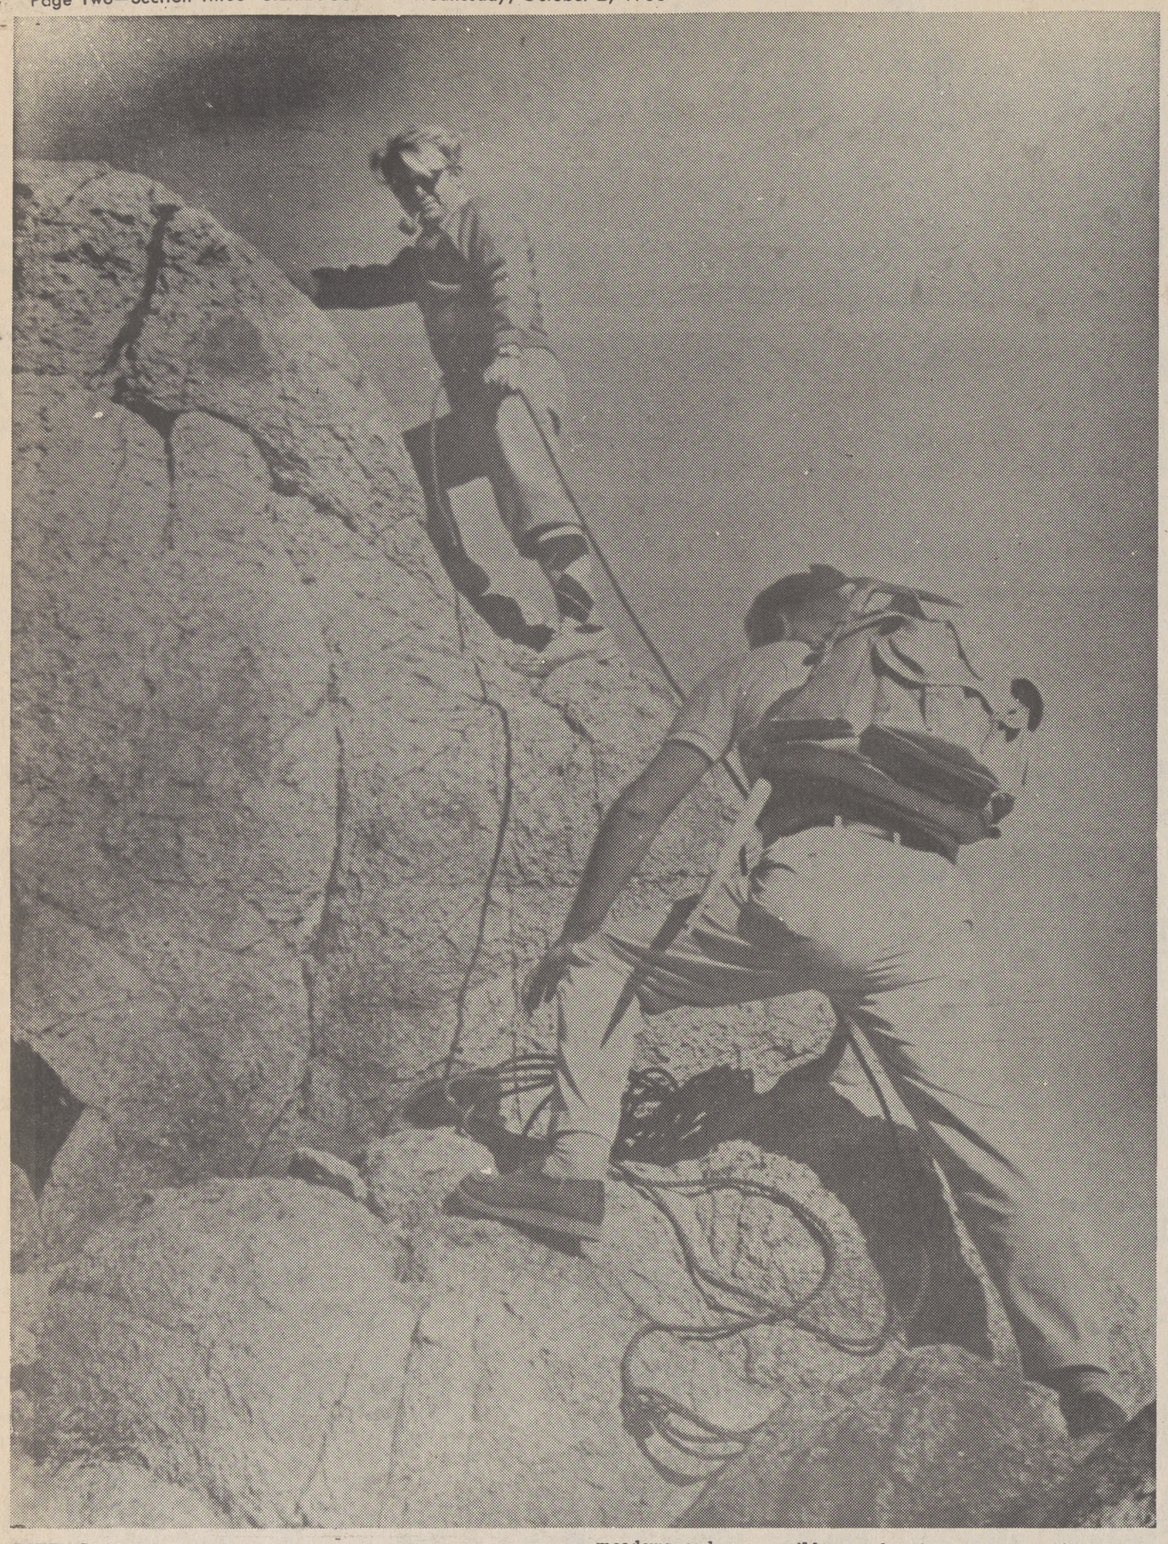
Those were the days of beaver hats and mean of courage were willing to risk their lives for precious beaver pelts. It was in the interests of the California fur trade that Smith decided to challenge the Sierra Nevada in 1827.

Twice he entered the mountains and twice retreated, chased back by the deep snows. And the Indians he encountered in the foothills presented even more of a hazard than the snow. Finally he traveled far toward the southern perimeter of the range where the sun had lessened the brutality of the snow – far to the south of Squaw Valley – and made it across to the Mission of Los Angeles.

Despite increased colonization on the California coast, it was another twenty years before anyone again dared test his stamina upon the mountains.



RADIO CHURCH OF GOD SERVICES AT SQUAW VALLEY — Last year's convention drew more than 6,000 members to Blythe Arena for indoor services in the huge ice palace; Delegates will meet here next week for daily business sessions and services; annual Squaw Valley gathering is largest convention held in entire Lake Tahoe area and will number over 8,000 this year. — SKIAPA Photo



DIZZY SPORT — Joe Marillac, top, and Paul Rivard enjoy summer mountain climbing in the Squaw Valley area; upper country beyond valley rim abounds with rocky peaks, alpine lakes and meadows, and serene wilderness beauty; saddle and pack horses are available in Squaw Valley as well as at Donner Lake and other areas for high Sierra trips. —SKIAPA Photo

Ponderosa Lady Golfers Complete First Invitational

Sixty–eight women golfers vowed they had "the best time ever" last week when they participated in the Ponderosa Women's First Annual Invitational at Truckee.

Be Garson, Jerri Hendrickson and Hazel Stewart were chairmen and co–chairmen respectively. A "Sixth Tee Happy Wagon" provided refreshments during golf play.

Winners were announced and awards made during a luncheon following play at the North Shore Club, Crystal Bay. Ruth Stephenson came up with a 77 to win "low gross." Charlotte Bath took "hole in one" honors.

Winning team, each member of which received an engraved silver bowl, was composed of Cledytha Hopper, Florence Bryan, Miriam Flyge and Bee Hoge. Second place honors went to Hazel Nixon of Ponderosa, Vi Casteel of Incline, Eve Popovich of Ponderosa and Anne Force of Nevada City. They also received engraved bowls.

Winning third place were Eloise Heilmann of Auburn Valley, Alice Kerr of Alta Sierra, Mrs. E. Belluominie of Auburn and Gwen Vetter of Brookside in Reno. Golf purses for each team member was the third place award.

Luncheon tickets given out after play were attached to a "Thank you for attending" card and a recording. Mrs. Garson said the excellent attendance at this first annual tourney assures the Ponderosa women golfers of highly successful future tourneys.

The North Lake Tahoe Fire Protection District will observe Fire Prevention Week Oct. 6 through 12. A program is scheduled at Incline School during Fire Prevention Week.

In recognition of this special week, the chief of North Lake Tahoe Fire Protection District has some tips for a fire safe home.

"Good family habits in the home to prevent fires are important," says Fire Chief Jack Kissinger. "But it's equally important to know that good construction features of the home can add substantially to the safety of you and your family from fire.

If you are building or buying a home, or checking one you already own, the chief said, look for these points of good construction suggested by the National Fire Protection Association:

1. Built–in fire stops: these are barriers of wood or masonry between studs, joists, rafters and stringers that serve to prevent the spread of smoke and fire.

2. Solid doors for every room: an ordinary wooden door, when closed, can keep smoke and fire out of a room for many minutes, allowing extra excape time.

3. Good escape routes: best exits lead directly outside, not through other rooms. Windows should be large enough and low enough to climb through and operate easily enough for the youngest member of the family to open.

4. Walls of low flame–spread characteristics: plaster – surfaced walls and gypsum, cement–asbestos and other noncombustible wallboards will not spread flame.

5. Fire–resistant roofing material, such as asphalt shingles, slate, asbestos or metal: wood shingles used for roofing should be factory–treated to make them fire retardant.

6. Proper wiring: qualified electricians follow the provisions of the National Electrical Code when installing wiring, which means a fire safe installation.

7. A good heating plant properly installed and located, regularly inspected and cleaned: a furnace should never be located where a heater fire could block your escape.

Tilting Of Sierra Mountains Formed Huge Tahoe Basin

The waters of Lake Tahoe ebb and flow in a huge rift at a surface elevation of 6225 feet and, in places, reach a depth of 1645 feet.

The basin was formed during "tilting" action of the Sierra Nevada range and the final period of the ice age probably formed the Truckee River rim.

The second largest body of water in the world at this elevation, Lake Tahoe extends 23 miles in length and is 12 miles wide.

Along the waterline of this mountain lake, 75 miles of beaches are interspersed with ricky shores and wide tree-shaded lawns of hostelries and private homes.

The fantastic coloring of Lake Tahoe waters, ranging from emerald green to azure blue and royal purple, has gained world-wide renown for the area.

Name Means 'Big Water'

Historians have come upwith various origins for the name Tahoe. Many favor the translation from the language of the Washoe Indian Tribe which for centruies fished its waters. This translation would be, "Big Water."

See The Lake

No visit to the Squaw Valley area would be complete without a short drive to the beautiful north end of Lake Tahoe.

Here much of the terrain remains in its natural state, tall pines, high mountains and lush, green valleys. Tucked in among the towering trees are many homes built to conform with the landscape.

Along the north shore are several attractive towns, Kings Beach, Brockway, Tahoe City and others that provide the visitor with excellent restaurants and stores.

Just over the Nevada State line at Crystal Bay are several clubs that serve gourmet food and tops in entertainment. A bit farther on is Incline Village, nationally famed for its natural beauty. It is the home of the readily recognizable ranch home of TV's Cartwright family, seen weekly on "Bonanza." Many of "Bonanza's" hour-long shows this year are being filmed there at the Ponderosa Ranch.

Land Of Contrasts: Squaw Valley In The Summer . . .

A TIME FOR PLAY — Summer activities have included such varied events as full–scale rodeos held in an arena in Squaw Valley's meadow; cattle often graze the valley, and Basque sheepherd–ers have tended their flocks here for generations. — SKIAPA Photo

Easy Access By Train, Plane, Auto

Squaw Valley and Lake Tahoe are easily accessable to visi–tors traveling by air or automo–bile.

Both lie within 10 miles of Interstate Highway 80 at Truc–kee, Squaw Valley being reached by way of Highway 89 which continues to reach Lake Tahoe at Tahoe City. Highway 267 out of Truckee offers a direct route to the Lake.

The Truckee–Tahoe Airport is on Highway 267 2.5 miles southeast of Truckee. It lies at an altitude of 5900 feet and has two paved runways, one of which is 6000 feet by 100 feet, always clear of snow in winter, the air–port offers easy approaches over Martis Valley.

Both eastbound and westbound Southern Pacific passenger trains stop at Truckee. Local transportation from the airport and train station is readily available.

A TIME FOR SUN — Favorite gathering place for sun, fun, and relaxation is the swimming pool at Olympic Village; summer–time in Squaw Valley means warm sun under cloudless blue skies, cool nights, clean air, and evening skies filled with stars so bright you think you can reach out and touch them. — SKIAPA Photo

Squaw Valley-Tahoe-Truckee Area Offers Great Fishing

Al Accardi, a lifetime angler who has his own "Fishfinder" program on San Francisco ra–dio and has for 39 years pub–lished the Weekend Outdoor News on California and Nevada fishing, has several tips for the Lake Tahoe fisherman.

He notes top–lining with light spinning outfits accounts for most of the Browns and Rain–bows caught with a few Mac–kinaw thrown in during winter. Flatfish, hotshots, rapalas and similar lures are the favorites. Trollers like the rocky shore–lines.

Deep–line fishermen are pro–bably accounting for more fish pound–wise, said Accardi. And this is becoming more and more a reality as the Kokanee are in–creasing. Most Mackinaw are taken on the deep–line with cop–per, Monel or leaded line. Bait favorites are minnows and flat–fish.

"Lead core line users are coming into their own now that they have the secret of catching Kokanee," said Accardi.

"The man responsible is Wes Lane who engineered a special rig for Tahoe that includes rud–der, attractor blades, rubber snubber leader and his specialty a backwards Super Duper he has named the Sea–ducer.

"This rig on the end of some 300 feet of lead core line makes a deadly combination. Many fi–shermen attest to its efficiency by the limits of two to three pound Kokanee being taken every evening."

Accardi claims the rocky shore line from Cave Rock north is best for bank fisher–men. Salmon eggs, worm and marshmallow apparently take most of the trout but a few fishermen do well using live minnow for bait.

Visitors Are Too Late For Train Ride

Visitors to Squaw Valley to–day are some 60 years, more or less, too late. Too late, that is for a train ride over Highway 89.

It was early in the 1900's that the Lake Tahoe Railway and Transportation Company chug–ged lumber and passengers over narrow gauge rails through the Truckee River Canyon from Truckee to Tahoe City and back. The line once even had a spur track into Squaw Valley.

Teachers Hit Proposition 9

California Teachers Asso–ciation wants billboards urging support of California ballot Proposition 9 removed on the grounds they are "completely false and misleading."

"Save Our Schools – Vote Yes on 9" is the message carried by the signs.

"Contrary to the message on your billboards," the group said in a telegram to Los Angeles County Assessor Phil–lip Watson, author of the tax initiative, "Proposition 9 would wreck the school system in every California city and town administratively and function–ally."

Squaw Valley Is Ringed By Peaks

Squaw Valley lies snugly be–neath Squaw Peak, KT–22 Mountain, and Little Papoose Peak at an altitude of 6200 feet.

A natural amphitheater, it is from one–fourth to three–eighths of a mile wide and two and one–fourth miles long.

Truck Overturns

TRUCKEE – A tractor–trail–er rig hauling lumber went out of control and overturned on Highway 89 10 miles north of here Wednesday.

The driver, Chuck Collier, 19, Truckee, was treated at Tahoe Forest Hospital for in–juries described as slight by California Highway Patrol of–ficers.

Sports activities at Squaw Valley and Lake Tahoe abound the your around. Many are geared for the family.

Some of the best winter snow–skiing is found right in Squaw Valley, where skiers from all over the world came to compete in the VIIIth Winter Olympic Games.

A newer winter sport is Ski–Dooing, where the whole family piles into a motorized Ski–Doo to travel into previously untouched country throughout the Sierra, or compete in slalom, distance, up–hill and various other races.

During the rest of the year golfing, water skiing, boating, tennis, swimming, hiking, horsebackriding and skin diving are all found in the valley or within a few short miles.

Site Of Tragic Donner Party Incident Is Near Squaw Valley Church Convention

Just 10 miles from convention headquarters at Squaw Valley is the site of one of the most tragic episodes in America's march to fabled California.

On the shore of Donner Lake stands a monument to the Donner party, several of whom perished in the deep snows and frigid winds of the Sierra. The flat top of the monument, 22 feet above ground, indicates depth of the snow that cruel winter of 1946–47.

The Donner party, like other emigrant groups, left Springfield, Ill, in April of that year. An ironic aspect of the tragedy is that if the party hadn't decided on a new, and presumably shorter and easier trail to California, it would have passed into history unknown and unrecorded.

Following incredible hardships, the party reached the lake to be named for it in October. In November, 60 persons were camped along its shores. Another 21 were camped a few miles eastward.

The record is not completely clear on their wintry travail. Their shelters were crude leantos and an abandoned cabin. Many starved to death despite reckless efforts at rescue. Four separate parties repeatedly set out from California in deep snow to help but all failed.

And so, many of the Donner party died where they camped. Their history is graphically depicted at the Donner Memorial Museum.

It is a strange quirk of history that the same heavy snows which made a living hell for the Donners in 1846, eventually made the Donner–Truckee area the nation's best known winter recreation center.

Today, when one drives over Donner Summit in the summer it is difficult to visualize what the Donners endured.

Hollowed By Glacier

Squaw Valley, hollowed out by glaciers thousands of years ago during the ice age, is an area of deep snow in winter and a mild temperatured expanse of green meadow by late spring.

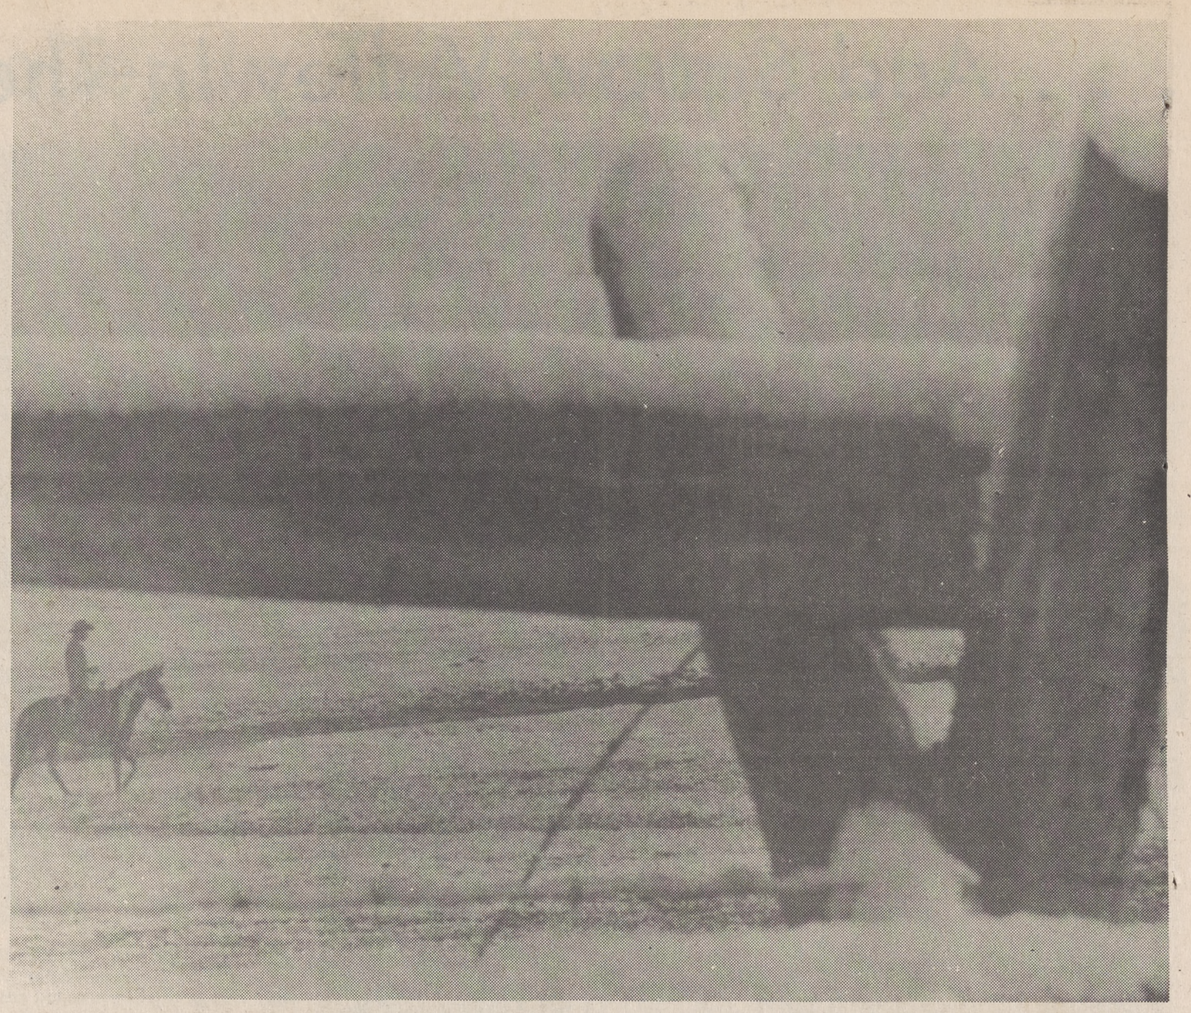
WINTER FURY — High winds occasionally blow at near–gale forces through the Tahoe Basin, building up 5 to 7–foot waves on the lake; in some 110 years of maritime activity on Lake Tahoe many boats have capsized in storms such as this, catching even experienced sailors by surprise far from shore. — SKIAPA Photo



WINTER SERENITY — A lonely cowboy makes his way across the meadow in Squaw Valley at first snow fall, preparing to move cattle out for the winter; the valley was formed by glacial activity and subsequent erosion left fertile topsoil in the valley, resulting in fertile grazing land. — SKIAPA Photo

Truckee Is A Picturesque Combination Of Old And New

Truckee, just 10 mile from the convention site at Squaw Valley, happily manages to combine the romance nostalgia of an early California railroad and logging town with the vitality of a modern community.

A railroad staging point from where passenger and freight trains began and ended their long pull over the steep Sierras, Truckee today is the hub of an ever–growing winter and summer recreational area.

A walk down Truckee's Commercial Row can be like a trip into the past, a past as picturesque and often as violent as anywhere in the west.

Convention–goers will enjoy the many fine retaurants in the city and may relax between sessions by browsing through its stores for souvenirs and mementoes of their visit.

From Truckee the historic Donner museum, located on the site of the Donner tragedy, is but a couple minutes away.

You'll like Truckee and its residents.

Even newspapermen had their troubles and real old timers can still recall when one editor killed another in a "difference" over editorial opinion.

Truckee, while not showing spectacular growth, nevertheless is the economical focal point of the entire Donner–Truckee area. Its proximity to the vast Trimont land and recreational development, construction of the new Martis Dam, frequent rail and bus schedules, point up Truckee and environs as a solid and pleasant place in which to live.

Gold Rush In Squaw Valley

During the gold rush days of more than 100 years ago, word spread among hungry for precious metal that the ledges at Squaw Valley were heavy with silver.

As a result of this during the 1850's the ground todays visitors now traverse on th valley floor was the site of Knoxville, a city of 1,000 inhabitants. Neither silver or gold was forthcoming from the rocks, however, and the city was soon deserted.

State Park In Squaw Valley

Portions of Squaw Valley, where more than 8,000 members of the Radio Church of God are meeting to seek inspiration and knowledge, is now a California State Park.

Originally a desolate, snowbound valley inhabited only in spring and summer by Indians, later much of it privately owned and in 1960 the site of the VIIIth Winter Olympics, some of its summer and winter facilities are now accessable to the public through the California State Park System.

GALS AT NEVADA LODGE — North Lake Tahoe's Nevada Lodge is featuring the Three Peppers nightly in the colorful Topaz Room; these three delightful gals are a talented trio of singers and instrumentalists, and have attracted thousands of fans at the north shore; they share the Nevada Lodge spotlight with John Christmas and the Holidays.

GUYS AT NEVADA LODGE — John Christmas and the Holidays are being featured at North Lake Tahoe's Nevada Lodge through October 21 with a dazzling performance of singing, instrumentals and dancing; currently sharing the Nevada Lodge spotlight with them are the Three Peppers; with John Christmas, above top, are Hal Kee, bassist, and drummer Ken King; Nevada Lodge is the largest year round resort hotel on the north shore of Lake Tahoe.

Supervisor John Fay has had his men working on the streets in Truckee during the past two weeks and the roads show a marked improvement. During the summer automobile travel, which has been unprecedented in the history of Truckee, has cut up the roads and made them rough in some places. The crews commenced work two weeks ago at the top of the cemetery hill and have that section like a boulevard. They are now putting the finishing touches on the Brickletown road. Fay, incidentally, will soon have served as fifth district county supervisor 24 years.

Nevada County Supervisors Anti-Cleaver

Nevada county's supervisors agreed Tuesday with Gov. Ronald Reagan, Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh and a whole host of other officials.

The supervisors don't think Eldridge Cleaver should be allowed to lecture at the University of California either.

By a 4–1 vote, the supervisors adopted a resolution "opposing the use of University of California officials by Eldridge Cleaver."

The no vote came from Supervisor Henry Loehr, who didn't think it was the county's board's business.

However, this thought was overriden by Chairman Bret Bennallack and Supervisors Gene Ricker and William Thomas, all of whom indicated strong feelings against the controversial Cleaver lectures at Cal.

The debate started after a copy of a resolution from Imperial county was read opposing the lectures.

"No one invited Al Capone to talk," Thomas charged.

Richer grumbled about using "taxpayer's money" for this purpose. Bennallack finished Richer's sentence by saying it would be "shoving it (the money) down a rat hole."

Supervisor Lou Hartman didn't want to take an official stand, saying "Enough hell's been raidsed." However, Hartman voted to oppose Cleaver's proposed lectures, saying it was his personal opinion, but he didn't know how the county's citizens feel.

Other business handled by the supervisors Tuesday included:

–The board delayed action on rejoining the Mountain Counties Water Association until it learns whether Nevada Irrigation District and the Truckee water agency are willing to join also and share the cost of membership.

Bizz Johnson: Nation's Railroads Are At The Crossroads

Congressman Harold T. (Bizz) Johnson of the Second, mountain–valley counties, District today declared that the nation's railroads are at the crossroads when it comes to the future of passenger travel.

In a statement prepared and delivered last week in Redding, at a hearing by the Interstate Commerce Commission on the proposed discontinuance of the Southern Pacific Cascade passenger trains, Representative Johnson opposed the discontinuance, declaring:

"We must decide whether or not the railroad industry is going to serve the traveling public or whether it will be permitted to ignore the passenger business."

Representative Johnson said the decisions being made by the ICC on individual requests for train discontinuance establish the pattern which ultimately will determine this issue.

In his presentation, read into the record on his behalf by Robert Cowden, Redding city manager, Congressman Johnson stressed four points:

1. If the Cascade is permitted to die, it will end all rail passenger traffic between California and Pacific Northwest States.

2. Rail passenger service offers many advantages which are not available in any other form of transportation.

3. Rail passenger transportation is a safe mode of travel, much safer than highway driving. The Congressman noted that several thousand people die on the highways each year.

4. Railroads are public utilities which were established to serve the traveling public and should not be permitted to abdicate its responsibility to passenger service.

Personnel Shifts Noted In Highway Department

MARYSVILLE – The appointment of Howard L. Payne as assistant district engineer for District 3 here was announced by District Highway Engineer W. L. Warren.

Payne replaces Assistant District Engineer Robert E. Biggs who transfers to a new post as supervising engineer in charge of all highway construction and road maintenance in the district, a $110 million annual responsibility.

Biggs is succeeding Edward L. Miller who is retiring. The changes are effective Oct. 1.

Payne is joining the District 3 staff on a promotion from senior bridge engineer. He has been in Sacramento headquarters of California Division of Highways.

He was graduated from Stanford University and holds both a bachelor's and master's degree in engineering.

He will be the administrative engineer for the district heading eight departments with a staff of 200.

His 18–year career with the highway division includes six years as resident engineer on bridge construction, engineering design of the Randolph Collier Tunnel on Route 199 in Northern California, and of freeways and bridges in the San Francisco and Los Angeles areas.

He is holder of the Mead Prize awarded by the American Society of Civil Engineers for engineering design excellence and for this was commended by special resolution of the California State Legislature.

He and his wife, Betty Lou, have moved to Yuba City with their children, Janet, 10, and Robert, 8.

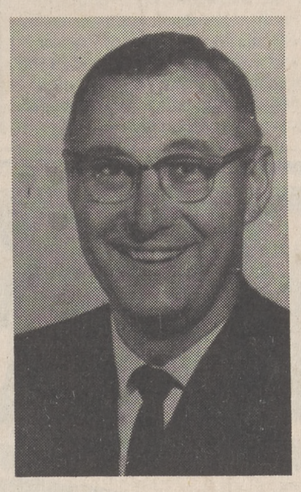
Biggs has been with the State Division of Highways 22 years starting as a senior engineering aid winning five promotions in that time.

He has been the administrative engineer for the district for nearly eight years. Before that he was district design engineer, district construction engineer, assistant district maintenance then assistant planning engineer and spent four years in field construction.

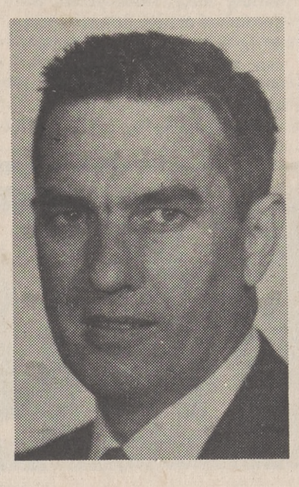
He was graduated from Marysville high school, attended the University of Idaho and served three years in the U.S. Air Force during World War II flying in the turret gun position on B–29s.

He and his wife, Lorraine, live in Yuba City. They have five children; Jane, Robert, David, Barbara and William.

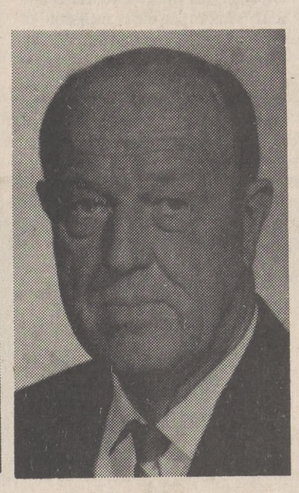
A man who didn't really want his first highway job and who then stayed on 40 years chalking up one achievement after another is retiring Sept. 30 from the District 3 staff of the State Division of Highways.



HOWARD PAYNE
. . . named administrative engineer, District 3.



ROBERT BIGGS
. . . new assistant district engineer.



EDWARD MILLER
. . . retires from division of highways.

He is Assistant District Engineer Edward L. Miller who supervises over $100 million of highway construction projects and $8 1/2 million in road maintenance and snow removal work each year. His staff exceeds 700 persons.

As construction supervisor Miller has traveled constantly from one project to another for nearly 10 years dealing directly with contractors for the people of California. He says it has been the happiest period of his career.

Miller joined the staff at Marysville headquarters in charge of construction and maintenance in 1959 just as the interstate highway program was getting under way.

He was directly responsible for the spectacular and difficult construction providing the four–lane Interstate 80 freeway over the summit of the Sierra, a job that was completed in November, 1964.

It was a repeat performance for him in the Sierra terrain. In the 1940s he helped establish a new alignment for the two–lane U.S. 40 over the summit, a fact which led to his selection as the man to supervise replacement of that highway in the 1960s with a modern freeway.

In addition all of the elevated freeways in Sacramento have been constructed during his tenure as supervising construction engineer.

In May 1929 as a young college graduate, Miller went looking for a job. He was sent to the Eureka headquarters of the state highway division for an interview.

"They took me to a mountainous area," he recalls "pointed me toward the bottom of a deep canyon and said 'There's a survey party down there. You can have a job with them if you want it'."

Miller recalls that he didn't like the weather or the terrain, that he didn't want the job but didn't have enough money to return home. So he climbed down the hill through the underbrush. That began his four–decade career.

He remained in the northwest area of California for nine years working on a variety of construction projects including major reconstruction of a section of U.S. 101.

Then he spent two years in Sacramento headquarters and in 1940 joined the engineering staff at Marysville where one of his first jobs was resident engineer on U.S. 40 at Auburn.

Later as location engineer in Marysville he helped plot the future route of Interstate 80 between Auburn and the Nevada State line and the Auburn–Grass Valley segment of Highway 49.

In 1947 he assumed duties as district maintenance engineer following a promotion and three years later was named supervising highway engineer and transferred again to Sacramento. There he served as asistant state maintenance engineer traveling over much of the state reviewing highway upkeep and repair. He has won five promotions since his first job as an engineering aid.

He and his wife, Mariette, love in Yuba City. Their son, Edward R. Miller, is a senior land agent for the State Reclamation Board and lives in Sacramento.

Commenting on his retirement, Warren said, "Ed Miller has performed an outstanding service for the traveling public both in supervising construction of new highways and in safe maintenance of them after they were opened for use.

Area Solons 'Disturbed' Over Highway Fund Slash

WASHINGTON — Nevada Congressman Walter S. Baring issued a scathing letter to the director of the Bureau of the Budget, Charles J. Zwick, calling for the immediate restoration of $200 million in highway funds recently cut.

"I am sick and tired of this now – you – have – it – now – you–don't game that is being played with the people's money," Baring wrote. "To say that the reason for the freeze on highway funds is to meet congressional mandate to cut fiscal spending in 1969 by $6 billion is fallacious."

"In no way did congress intend a complete halt of new highway construction when it asked the administration to adopt a policy of fiscal restraint. Money for the highway fund does not come from general tax revenues; it is derived from highway user taxes paid for by everyone who uses the highway system. For the Bureau of the Budget and the Administration to flaunt the intent of Congress, the people of the United States, with flim–flam bookkeeping is highly illegal," Baring stated.

Baring also pointed out that in this year's highway measure it was made the sense of the Congress that under existing law there shall be no use of the trust fund money for other than highway purposes.

Congressman Harold T. (Bizz) Johnson of California's Second District today said he is "quite disturbed" over any reduction in federal highway development programs.

Referring to proposed deferments in highway project spending, Congressman Johnson declared: "Congress authorized the Inter–state and other highway programs in an effort to meet the transportation needs of the nation's economy. It is essential that this program continue on schedule."

Peaking also as a member of the House of Representatives' Committee on Public Works and the Special Committee on Federal–Aid Highway Programs, Congressman Johnson also expressed concern over the proposed slow–down because of the toll it will take in lives and injuries due to highway accidents.

Congressman Johnson has urged the Department of Transportation and the Bureau of the Budget to proceed with the authorized highway program as originally enacted.

County Chamber Hails South Lake Tahoe Area

PLACERVILLE – Directors of El Dorado County Chamber of Commerce have taken note of an outstanding community effort by adopting a resolution saluting the city and community of South Lake Tahoe for efforts in behalf of the high altitude training of U. S. Olympic athletes at Echo Summit.

Through the action, the County Chamber:

— Recognized the determination and perserverence of community leaders in influencing the U. S. Olympic Committee's selection of South Lake Tahoe as the nation's best high altitude training site for the U.S. Olympic track and field, mens and womens volley ball, and women's gymnastics teams.

— Saluted the total community effort and involvement in supporting the program by arranging for use of the Echo Summit site with the U. S. Forest Service, raising substantial sums of money locally to build an olympic sized facility for track and field training, and dedicating thousands of hours of local volunteer time to the job of carving such facilities out of a semi–wilderness location, hosting and accommodating several hundred athletes, coaches, and their families, finding them part time employment, and providing lodging and entertainment.

— Acknowledged performance of tremendous logistical feats performed by the community in arranging for transportation for the thousands of spectators who viewed the training competitions to circumvent the lack of parking at the site, the special arrangements for providing training table facilities and special foodstuffs, and the particular handling required to accommodate hundreds of sports reporters from all parts of the United States who covered the event and required an easy access to numerous special facilities for getting their stories and pictures out with speed and dispatch.

The resolution, submitted on behalf of the El Dorado County Chamber of Commerce, speaks on behalf of the citizens of El Dorado County to recognize one of the greatest feats of community effort ever performed.

It takes pride in the fact that, as a result of the effort of leaders and citizens of the South Lake Tahoe area, U. S. Olympic officials have credited the program as the most successful olympic training effort ever conducted in the history of the U. S. Olympic program, with athletes better equipped physically and emotionally for international Olympic competition than ever before.

There seems to be a wee bit of autumn snap in the air, early in the a.m. these days. Could be it's close enough to upland game season openings to call your attention to some of our closed areas that might complicate your plans.

First, however, we'd like to mention the 1968 Upland Game, Waterfowl and Trapping Seasons pamphlets. These are available at all license agencies in the state and are free for the asking.

Every hunter should have one and as we just noted, the price is right. This little pamphlet, plus a map of the areas you might consider hunting, could be a money saver. Anyway, taking your season chart and starting at the top the first thing we see is sage grouse. Here the closures are the important thing to note.

We'll skip blue grouse – no problem. Chukar and Hungarian partridge – Storey County is closed.

This puts a crimp in the shoe, especially along the Lyon–Storey County boundary. Unfortunately there isn't a fence between the two.

We hate to see any of our friends get into trouble, so please note; Storey County boundary. Unfortunately there isn't a fence between the two.

We hate to see any of our friends get into trouble, so please note; Storey County is bounded on the North by the Truckee River, on the west by the crest of the Virginia Range and on the south and east by a dotted line on the map. Unfortunately the dotted line appears on the map only, so if you're tempted to hunt this area don't bother to look for it.

For those of you who have some knowledge of the country, we might point out that American Flat, Sutro, Six Mile Canyon, Sutro Springs, Blackhawk and Biddleman Springs areas are all in Storey County.

Please note, the same closure is in effect on Valley and Mountain Quail. Our personal feeling is that unless you're a surveyor or a civil engineer, forget it and go somewhere else.

Pheasants we'll just skip for now and save 'till a later date. Cottontail and pygmy rabbits, bless their reproductive little hearts, offer no problem. Just don't take too many.

Skipping to waterfowl season, it seems the phrase "Minority Group" has been added to the game management vocabulary.

A department of the Interior new release just arrived says in part "Duck hunters are being urged to 'spare the hen,' particularly the mallard hen during the coming waterfowl season."

Figures show that of all mallards killed last year, 60 per cent were drakes. It seems that male mallards outnumber females, but that the distaff population is most crucial to breeding success.

We note that the people's representatives in Washington have been busy. The House of Representatives has passed H. R. 17735, a bill prohibiting the interstate mail order sale of rifles and shotguns. Senate Bill S. 3633, the same as above, seems sure to pass. Is registration next?

For informational purposes we'd like to quote Representative John Paul Hammerschmidt, Third Congressional District, Arkansas. He has this to say:

"The debate during House consideration of the proposal to control mail order sale of firearms produced important information on the larger and more controversial questions of licensing and registration.

"The cost of implementing a program of registration is a factor of great importance. Figures were cited, without challenge, as follows: There are approximately 200 million firearms – hand guns, shot guns, and rifles – in the possession of some 50 million U.S. citizens; the State of New York has estimated its costs of registering each gun at $25.

"Mere mathematics produces a total taxpayer cost of $5 billion for a complete initial registration of all guns.

"What a tragic misjudgment of priorities it would be if the Congress were to enact registration legislation and ask the taxpayers to put up 5 billion dollars to pay for it.

If the money were available, could it not be spent better on programs of education, or health, or in the alleviation of poverty? If the money were left in the states, the states could perhaps solve their own most pressing problems.

"Registration of guns would open a Pandora's Box.

Of course the fact remains – no criminal is going to register a gun.

Project Hope Offers Greeting Cards

Greeting cards carrying the authentic spirit of hope are being offered for the Holiday Season again this year by Project Hope.

The original cards carry the season's greetings to your friends, and proceeds from sale of the cards will benefit the hospital ship S. S. HOPE and medical teaching – treatment programs on four continents.

Project Hope, organized eight years ago, extends modern American medical knowledge to the peoples of developing nations. The S. S. HOPE, a floating medical center complete with teaching facilities, is staffed by volunteer American medical personnel.

Two talented artists were commissioned to create original paintings incorporating the holiday motif with the idea of HOPE. The paintings were then made into two tasteful and decorative greeting cards.

"Hope Star," by Victor Livoti, shows the white hospital ship sailing under the star of hope as she nears another tropical region on her mission of mercy. "Libretto of Hope," by Thomas Sgouros, depicts the purpose of Project Hope spelled out near a volunteer nurse who holds one of the thousands of children whose health — and often whose very life — may depend on the famed white ship.

Project Hope and the Hospital ship are administered by The People–to–People Health Foundation, Inc., a non–profit, independent organization supported by the generosity of American industry and individuals. The S. S. HOPE is currently at work in Colombo, Ceylon.

The greeting cards come 25 in a box and cost $4.50 per box. Shipping and handling is $.45 per order. The cards may be ordered from: Project HOPE, 2233 Wisconsin Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20007.

A brochure with an order blank and samples of the cards is available upon request to the office of local HOPE committees or from the Washington headquarters.

Olympics Open On Columbus Day

The opening of the Olympic Games in Mexico on October 12 coincides with Columbus Day, a holiday celebrated throughout the Americas.

This year the holiday will take on special meaning as Mexican President, Gustavo Diaz Ordaz, inaugurates the 19th Olympic Games in the Olympic Stadium of Mexico City's University City.

The Olympic Flame, arriving by ship (accompanied by a direct descendant of Columbus', Cristobal Colon Carvajal), and almost 2,000 torch bearers, will have followed the route of Columbus to the New World.

The inauguration ceremony will feature a parade of participating delegations, headed by Greece, the original Olympic country. The rest of the delegations will follow in alphabetical order, with the hosts bringing up the rear.

Pierre Coubertin, who founded the modern Olympic Games in 1894, will be presented in voice and spirit, as a recording of his voice will sound in the Stadium, and his ideas of fraternal sports competition among the youth of the world will flash in a message across the electronic board.

At 11 a.m. the traditional opening words of the Olympics will be procounced by the Mexican President and the Olympic flag will be raised to the strains of the Olympic Hymn, followed by cannon salutes and the release of thousands of gaily colored balloons. Pre-colonial native Mexican instruments will announce the arrival of the Olympic Torch, carried by an athlete around the Stadium track.

The flags of all the nations will be carried forward in a semicircle behind the podium as one athlete pronounces the Olympic Oath.

At the close of the ceremony, a helicopter will toss out confetti as delegations leave.

Performing Artist Series At U. Nevada

The University of Nevada's 1968-69 Performing Artist Series begins in October with the first of five musical performances planned for the season.

Included in the performances will be a violinist, bassoonist, woodwind quartet, a Brahms quartet and a concert ensemble.

Season ticket sales begin this week, with both adult and student tickets available. The series is sponsored by the Public Occasions Board and the Associated Students of the University.

Performances are scheduled for Oct. 24, Nov. 7, Jan. 14, Feb. 20 and March 27. All performances are at 8 p.m. on campus, with the place to be announced for each.

Concentus Musicus of Vienna will be the first presentation on Oct. 24. The ensemble features English works of the Elizabeth I period, but also draws on French, Baroque, Italian and Austrian selections.

George Zukerman, bassoonist, will appear on Nov. 7.

The bassoonist will give a solo in Reno on his round-the-world concert tour. He is one of Canada's leading wind instumentalists.

The Brahms Quartet will perform on Jan. 14. This group was formed five years ago in Italy and features not only Brahms, but Copland, Faure and classical standards.

Eudice Shapiro, violinist, performs on Feb. 20. She has been soloist with many symphonies including Fritz Reiner, William Steinberg, Igor Stravinsky, Otto Klemperer and Leopold Stokowski.

The final performance of the Performing Artist Series will be the appearance of the Danzi Woodwin Quintet on March 27.

The ensemble's repertoire includes music from the classic, romantic and avant-garde composers.

University of Nevada students who wish to compete for government grants for graduate study or research must make application by Oct. 1 for the 1969-1970 awards.

Grants for study and professional training in the creative and performing arts abroad also are available.

Applicants should see Dr. Robert McQueen, Reno campus Fulbright Program advisor.

Eligibility requirements generally include proficiency in the language of a host country, United States citizenship and the holding of a bachelor's degree or equivalent by the beginning date of the grant.

Special criteria are set for creative and performing artist, medical and social worker applicants.

Competition will be most keen in categories of grants for Americans to go overseas because of the governmental policy to reduce travel abroad.

Grants paying both full expense and just travel expense are available through the Fulbright-Hays act.

Duck, Geese Plentiful At Lahontan

FALLON, Nev. – If food and water conditions do not change too greatly during the next few weeks, favorable duck and goose seasons are expected again in Lahontan Valley.

Sharp controls over the multiple-use water system in the rich valley have prevented a critical situation. Water is low throughout Western Nevada. However, it has not reached a danger point here, according to officials.

Stillwater and the lucrative Carson Lake pasture areas have both produced outstanding hunting in years past. And, 1968 should be no exception, say authorities.

"We've had quite a build-up of the early migrating species in the valley, including pintains, shovelers and green winged teal," according here."

There has been a sharp increase in Canada geese in recent weeks. Several hundred birds are using the valley now, well above normal.

Many ducks and geese are leaving the Ryepatch and Humboldt sinks because of low water conditions. They are moving into Lahontan Valley in large numbers.

The Carson Lake pasture area was literally "alive" with ducks and some geese last week, officials pointed out.

Open to the public at a fee, the pasture is leased and controlled by the Greenhead Club.

Hunters can utilize the area for a $20-per-year fee or at $3 per day.

Duck season opens October 19 and ends January 12. Limits for 1968 are five daily and ten in possession.

Goose hunting, except for brant and swan which are closed, is scheduled for the same dates. Limits are six daily and six in possession.

Construction Started On New Supermarket

A new supermarket is under construction on Kingsbury Grade, a quarter-mile above Highway 50.

This 24,000 - square - foot building is to be the future home of Eagle Thrifty Market. Completion date is expected to be early January with a grand opening scheduled for April.

Ferdie Sievers, R.E. Fraser and C.E. Swift are owners and developers of the supermarket site. They have negotiated a 23-year lease with Eagle Thrifty.

Cost of the land and building is approximately $450,000, the developers note. A. F. Toccoli of Stockton, Calif., is general contractor.

Fronting the food store on Kingsbury will be a paved parking lot which will accommodate 120 vehicles. A building block retaining wall will enclose the lot area. It is to be landscaped and lighted at night, the builders say.

This will be Eagle Thrifty's 12th store in the state and the largest supermarket on the Nevada side of Lake Tahoe, the builders note.

The new merchandising outlet will contain, in addition to the standard grocery items, a drug department; bakery department; liquor section; variety department and butcher shop.

Exterior construction is expected to be complete by the first of the year, with merchandise counters and display cases installed and stocked shortly after this, the developers report.

"We are moving along as fast as possible while this good weather lasts," said Louis Borge, construction foreman.

North Shore Road Work Under Way

RENO – Work started Monday on reconstruction of connections of Tahoe Boulevard to State Route 28 on the north shore of Lake Tahoe, District Highway Engineer Mike Colletti has announced.

H. M. Byars Construction Co. and Nevada Paving Inc., are joint contractors on the $379,-959 project.

The State of Nevada has accepted Tahoe Boulevard from Incline Village as a part of the state highway system. It will replace the present paralling section of SR 28 along the lake shore. The four miles of Tahoe Boulevard will become SR 28 and the present road will go to Washoe County.

Colletti cautioned motorists to drive with care at the job site. Flagmen and barricades will be used to promote safe driving conditions.

William Wilke will be resident engineer on the job. His assistant is Joe England.

Announcement of Mrs. Chard's appointment was made by John Weidman of Placerville and Norman Woods of South Lake Tahoe, co-chairman of the El Dorado County Teale Committee.

"We have a clear-cut choice between Senator Teale's 15 years of legislative experience in the Senate and five years background in solving the urgent problems with which a senator must deal," Mrs. Chard said in accepting the appointment.

Sierra Ski Ranch Gets 'New Look'

TWIN BRIDGES – Construction work is progressing toward the Dec. 1 deadline, as the new Sierra Ski Ranch, 1,000 feet above the old area nears completion.

The new ski ranch is being built due to the relocation of Highway 50.

According to Vern Sprock, owner and operator of Sierra Ski Ranch, skiers should be ready to go after the first good snow.

The $750,000 project includes new installation of a 3,600-foot chair lift to Huckleberry Ridge at almost 8,200 feet.

From that point, two runs will descend to the new 10,000-square foot two-story lodge at 7,300 feet.

Parking is being prepared for 400 cars near the American-Bavarian designed lodge. Beginning and intermediate slopes with poma lift and rope tows are planned a short walk from the lodge.

Entrance to the new resort, located in the Placerville Ranger District of the Eldorado National Forest will be over a paved road with less than six per cent grade that connects with Highway 50 at Pow-Wow.

Social Security Address Noted

RENO — Social Security beneficiaries in Northern Nevada and Lake Tahoe areas who need to report changes of address or other events that affect payment of their monthly benefits may now do so through the Social Security office at 811 Ryland St., Reno.

Reports may be made by mail, telephone, or personal visit, according to Art Johnson, district manager.

Johnson said that up to now beneficiaries were encouraged to notify the Social Security Administration about these events on postcard forms preaddressed to one of six Social Security record centers throughout the country. Beneficiaries received the postcard forms when they initially applied for monthly benefits.

The change in reporting methods is designed to reduce the time needed to change addresses and process other information having an effect on payment of monthly benefits, according to Johnson.

The change is prompted by the increased capacity of Social Security district offices to transmit the information over high speed communications circuits to record offices.

In addition to address changes Johnson said that events that affect receipt of monthly Social Security checks include employment, marriage or remarriage in some instances, divorce, and death.

NAACP Official Says Race Relations Work Good

Eddie Scott, president of the Reno-Sparks Chapter of the NAACP; Terea Pittman, NAACP worker and former regional director of the west coast region of NAACP; and Ada Richmond, secretary of the Reno Human Relations Bureau, were special program guests at Wednesday's noon meeting of the Soroptimist Club of South Lake Tahoe.

Scott, who is also director of the Reno Human Relations Bureau, reported on last weeks meeting with the local human relations group and said the progress has been tremendous.

The mapping out of plans and the way the businesses in the community are cooperating and working is outstanding, Scott said.

If we succeed with the programs that are outlined, Lake Tahoe may become the "model city." The Lake Tahoe people have surpassed the residents of Reno already and in six months to a year I predict that cities across the nation will write to Lake Tahoe and ask how they solved the problems, he added.

Scott introduced Mrs. Pittman with whom he worked for 12 years. He highlighted her work during the past few years and pointed out that at one time she was NAACP director over nine states, a position which is presently held by a man with five assistants.

Mrs. Pittman spoke on the goals and programs of the NAACP and expressed her feeling that "race, color or creed can not be a deciding factor between relationships."

We as Americans should make some plans to prevent discrimination and racial problems. "Separation will not do it. Separation is the very vehicle that will ride into a whirlwind of hate," she emphasized.

"We are going to drip more and more into a dangerous situation where our country is being threatened," Mrs. Pittman added.

She also spoke of education of the Negro population. Because of the racial problems some Negroes may begin to hate all whites just because they are white and this is discrimination in reverse and the NAACP is working to discourage this kind of thinking also.

She pointed out that in addition to a white-black conflict, there is also a conflict within the Negro race which is causing still more problems.

There are those who feel that the Negroes who are working in the NAACP and have elevated themselves into leadership positions now have what they want and need and that they have forgotten their "soul brothers." This too, while erroneous, has caused some problems, Mrs. Pittman said.

She advised the Soroptimists to support the NAACP and other local race relation organizations and the work which they are doing.

SOROPTIMIST GUESTS — Representatives of the NAACP were special program guests at South Lake Tahoe Soroptimist Club meeting Wednesday at Harrah's. Displaying her special guest certificate is Terea Pittman, a civil rights worker and NAACP affiliate, who addressed the group. She is seated next to club president Del Laine. Standing are Eddie Scott, president of the Reno-Sparks Chapter of the NAACP and direction of the Human Relations Bureau in Reno; Ada Richmond, secretary of the Human Relations Bureau; and Betty Tooker, program chairman for the Soroptimist meeting. — Tribune Photo

Check-Cashing Ruling Won't Affect Casinos

An appelate court ruling in Sacramento Wednesday, that California residents are not required to make good on checks cashed in Nevada casinos, will not affect the policy of at least two Stateline establishments.

According to Tony Atchley, publicity director of Hotel Sahara-Tahoe, "we anticipate no changes in our check-cashing policy inasmuch as we feel we are in a legitimate business and that the vast majority of our customers cash checks for legitimate purposes."

Atchley noted "there are exceptions in some cases, but for every dishonest person there are 100 honest people."

"We have pretty tight check-cashing policies as it stands now. Most checks we cash are with our special check-cashing cards, where credit ratings are checked closely," Atchley said.

Neal Olson, publicity director of Harvey's, said the ruling does "not change a thing for us, we'll conduct business in the same procedure as usual."

The 3rd District Court of Appeal in a unanimous decision, reversed a municipal court ruling that Merle C. Gibbs of Merced had to make good five checks for a total of $1,900.

Gibbs wrote the checks at Harvey's Wagon Wheel and Harrah's Club, both at Lake Tahoe. All were returned unpaid.

Justice Leonard Friedman said in the opinion that California law states that the owner of a gambling house who accepts a check from a patron for money to gamble "cannot recover on the check."

Attorneys for Lane and Pyron, Inc., a collection agency argued that Biggs could have used the money he obtained from the checks for food, drinks or entertainment, instead of gambling.

But the court ruled: "The only inferences reasonable from the uncontradicted evidence were the gambling purpose of the expense-paid excursion to Lake Tahoe; the gambling purpose of the cashier's booths in or near the gaming area; the gambling purpose of the customer in cashing the checks; the gambling purpose of the club in supplying the check cashing service; and the mutual participation of the customer and club in a gambling with the proceeds."

Greyhound Asks Nevada Fare Hike

CARSON CITY — Western Greyhound Lines has requested a 5 per cent increase in Nevada passenger fares.

Secretary Gene Milligan of the Public Service Commission said the proposed increase in fare charges will affect passengers in both northern and southern Nevada.

A Greyhound spokesman said Western Greyhound lines "has been and is now confronted with substantial increases in the cost of operation since the last general passenger fare increase in 1967. The largest increase relates to labor costs which represent in excess of 50 per cent of our over all operating expenses. Such increases are subject to a collective bargaining agreement which became effective March 1, 1968."

School Lab Near Stateline

SPARKS, Nev. – What is believed to be Nevada's first public school outdoor learning laboratory experience is planned Thursday and Friday for 28 third graders from Florence Drake School at Lake Tahoe's Nevada 4-H Club Camp near Stateline.

Mrs. Burnita Wilson said the purpose of the two-day project for her youthful students is to attempt to stimulate classroom learning ability and desire through observation of the outdoors and its relation to their studies.

Detective Gives Advice On Counterfeit Money

Ways to detect counterfeit currency and coins and what to do when counterfeit money is detected were explained by Detective Lt. John Crow of the South Lake Tahoe Police Department to South Tahoe High School students during a program Monday afternoon.

If the color is faded, the bill is usually counterfeit, Crow told the students. He also pointed out that legal tender is lighter in color on the back than on the face of the bill.

If a person notices that the serial numbers are the same on two or more bills they are counterfeit, since no two serial numbers are the same, the detective pointed out.

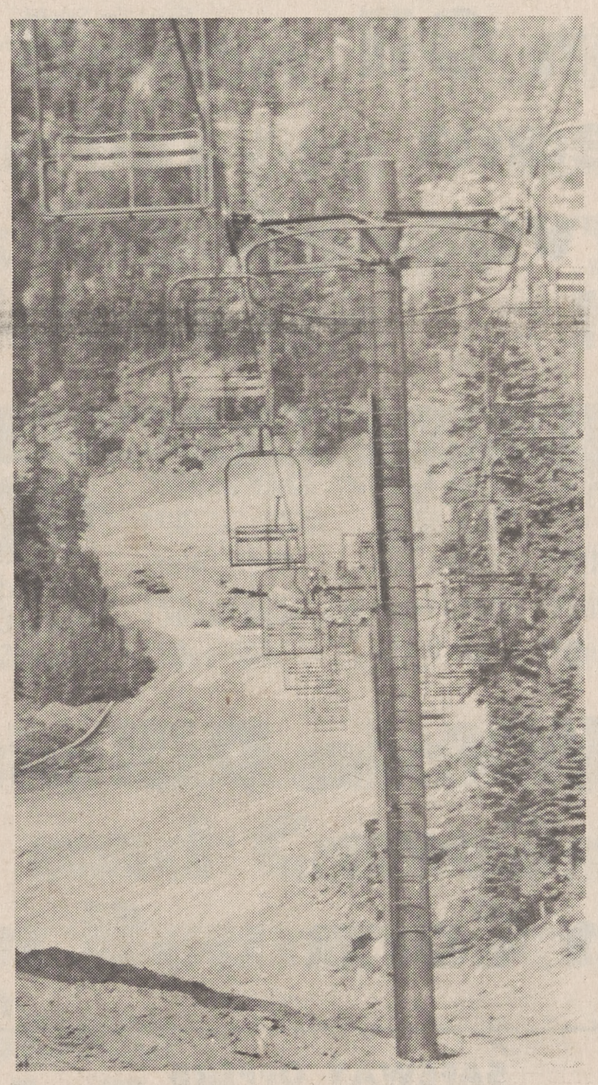
Crow noted that a crude counterfeit is one where the corners of bills are replaced with paste-on numbers of a higher denomination. These can be passed in stores during rush hours and won't be noticed until the cash count.

The clarity of lines and accuracy of engraving is missing in counterfeit money, he said. The tiny red, blue and green fibers that are part of all paper currency printed by the U.S. Government are usually absent from fake currency.

Other discrepancies in counterfeit bills include dull instead of sharp points on the left side of the seal caused by poor quality dies. Crosspatch work on the real bills are diamond shaped while counterfeit bills have a square pattern, Crow said.

Coins that are produced illegally are poorly embossed, worn too much and dull in outline. Coins can no longer be tested for their ring since alloys of several metals are used in creating the coins, Crow reported.

If a person should detect a counterfeit bill in a transaction he could take the money and immediately report a complete description of the suspect, make of automobile and license number to the police. This would make the suspect liable for the loss. An individual could also refuse the suspected money and then contact the police with the descriptions,



LENGTHY SKI LIFT — Rising through 3,100-foot Boulder Pass, this chair lift connects the Nevada side of Heavenly Valley to the California side. The lift will be open for use this winter. It will open up 11 miles of ski trails and allow skiing through two states and three counties. Located about three miles south of Highway 50 just off Kingsbury Grade, the lift will have parking areas this winter. Planned for next season is a $250,000 restaurant. The land is owned by Kent Corp. of Nevada and is being developed by Heavenly Valley Inc. The large open area in the picture is a bowl-shaped slope which will afford an area for skiers of varing skills. It will be planted with grass to prevent erosion, spokesmen say. This is said to be the longest chair lift in the nation.

STPUD Gets Consent For Sewer Work

PLACERVILLE — South Tahoe Public Utility District received permission from the El Dorado County Planning Commission Thursday, to construct four pump stations and extend sewage transmission lines to serve Forest Service land from Camp Richardson, Fallen Leaf Lake along Highway 89 to Baldwin Beach.

Approximately 12 miles of 24-inch diameter sewage line are involved.

General manager of STPUD, Russell Culp said "now we have approval to award contracts for sewer lines in that area. The pump station construction bids will be readvertised."

Granite Construction Company of Watsonville submitted low bid for the work—$835,-010. Engineer's estimate was $756,232 as approved by the Forest Service.

According to Culp, the work is expected to begin this fall and be completed some time next summer.

Ends Nevada Road Duties

CARSON CITY – Veteran employe A. (Ace) A. Howard of Reno has retired after more than 33 years with the Nevada Highway Department.

Replacing him as assistant District Two engineer will be Wilford E. Robison of Henderson. Robison, a resident engineer, will assume his new duties Oct. 2.

For the past five years Howard has assisted District Engineer Michael Colletti in supervising maintenance activity in the western Nevada area. His responsibility extended over more than 100 maintenance employees and the more than 900 miles of state highway within the district boundaries.

Deer Hunters Finally Learn The 'Bear' Fact Of Licenses

Tandy Motley of Santa Maria, made a hunting trip to Northern California recently, with his son-in-law Dick Emerson of Los Angeles.

They hunted in the Susanville area all the way up to the Oregon border.

Motley purchased his hunting tags at home before leaving on his trip.

He met Emerson in Pixley, Calif., where they both filled out their tags before continuing on with their trip.

While filling out their tags, Motley noticed the two sets were not identical but though nothing of it.

After a week of hunting and no deer, the hunters sat by the campfire talking.

Motley pulled his tags out of his pocket and noticed something — he had been sold bear tags!

Draft Status Is Outlined

CARSON CITY - Under current Selective Service regulations full-time university and college undergraduate students may be deferred for one year at a time in order to meet the total requirement for receipt of their baccalaureate degree, which is usually a four-year period.

Undergraduate students are eligible for deferment only if they are full-time students making satisfactory progress towards a degree.

Col. Addison A. Millard, Nevada Selective Service director, advised "for a student to be granted a deferment under the Military Selective Service Act of 1967, it is first necessary for him to file a request for undergraduate student deferment with his local draft board.

These forms are available at any draft board office and most universities and colleges have them available at either the dean of men's or registrar's office."

It is the responsibility of a college man to make certain his local board receives notification from the university where he is enrolled as a full time undergraduate student making progress towards graduation. Most universities and colleges will forward a Student Certificate, SSS Form 109, to the student's local board for him upon request, Col. Millard said. This request is normally submitted by the student.

Get Tourist Card Before Traveling To Olympic Games

Quicker than you can say Avery Brundage the Olympic Games will be under way in Mexico City.

At any rate, there are lots of folks making plans to head south of the Border.

If you're thinking of going, you'd better get rolling with your reservations or you'll find it impossible to get accommodations.

Mexico City is a lot closer than Rome or Tokyo, and millions of Californians have been across the border, but still, it would pay you to know a few things that could come in handy about our neighbor to the south.

The first thing to remember is that you need a tourist card to get into Mexico. It's free of charge. Don't decide to dispense with it just because you've never had trouble crossing into Tijuana. Just past that border city there is a border inspection station – about 10 miles inland.

Bank of America Travelers Cheques, which put its resident representatives to the test for some helpful hints for travel to the Mexico City Summer Olympics, says that crossing the border is easier than ever, but that it includes a tourist card.

You can obtain a tourist card at any Mexican consulate, at a Mexican tourist office, at certain airline offices, certain travel agencies, and at border crossings.

That is, if you are a U.S. Citizen; you need proof of citizenship such as a voter's registration card or a birth certificate.

And now, suppose that you are visiting a distant city and all of a sudden the thought strikes you to accompany your friends to Mexico. What to do? Go to a public notary and obtain an affidavit of birth and present that for the tourist card.

If you're a non-citizen, you must obtain the tourist card from a Mexican Consulate office since the issuance will be based upon the existing agreements between Mexico and your homeland. Bring along your passport and $3 please.

Under Mexican law you're a minor if you're under 21. This means that you may not travel without a notarized letter showing the consent of your parents or guardians. You need that letter if you want a tourist card.

Children under 15 are included on one of the parent's or guardian's tourist cards. But a child traveling with a grandparent must have his own tourist card.

Vaccinations are not needed anymore, but you do need a health certificate if you're bringing along your favorite pet plus $4 to have that certificate visaed by the Mexican consulate.

As for that favorite potted plant with which your aunt remembered you so dearly, forget it. Find a temporary home for it, because the importation of plants and fruits into Mexico is prohibited.

So you're driving to Mexico?

Got your permits, additional insurance coverage, enough gas, oil, water, tire pressure? Do you know what Alto means, Ceda el Pase, Aduana, 100 Maxima, Circulacion?

It goes without saying that you will see a great deal more of Mexico if you travel by car. Motoring south of the border has become easier and more comfortable each year – if you have made a motor trip to the south view of Grand Canyon, you are equally capable of driving to Mexico.

Mexico has some 34,000 miles of all-weather paved highway.

General rules are about the same as the United States, but you're well advised to observe certain precautions. Take night driving for instance:

You may encounter vehicles with no lights.

And when you're merrily barreling along don't ignore a sign that says "Puente Angosto" for by that time you may be in a wide ditch somewhere. The sign means narrow bridge and when it comes to crossing, it's first come, first served.

Mexico's oil industry is government – controlled and operates under the name of Petroleos Mexicanos (Pemex). Pemex gas and service stations are dotted along all highways. Remember that the gas is sold by the liter and not by the gallon.

The quality has greatly improved with two grades of gasoline being available: Pemex 100, 100 octane gas; and Gasolmex, about 90 octane.

And if you're waiting for that windshield to be cleaned by the service attendant, don't wait around too long. Gas station attendants in Mexico do not normally clean windshields or check the tires as a free service.

One of the most unusual features about highway travel in Mexico is that country's 1,000-men "Green Fleet" or "Angels of the Highway," a government jeep force which patrols the highways of Mexico to supply free emergency assistance to visiting tourists in case of highway breakdowns and other emergencies.

These patrols operate during a 12 to 14 hour day and each patrol car is a compact combination of gas station, garage and mobile first-aid station manned by two men. At least one will be bilingual and a first aid specialist.

The other is an excellent mechanic.

The service they provide is absolutely free and in case of fuel, oil, or spare parts, these will be charged for at cost when required. They are on the road seven days a week and pass a given point four times a day.

Though your American car insurance may cover you in Mexican border towns, for travel deeper into Mexico you should be insured by a Mexican company; Mexican insurance representatives are at the border crossing. Short term policies are available at very reasonable rates. Check with your agent.

About those road signs:

Alto means "stop," Ceda El Paso stands for "Yield Right of Way," Aduna means "inspection" and don't ignore it, and 100 Maxima doesn't stand for 100 miles, but 100 kilometers per hour which is the equivalent of about 65 miles per hour.

Circulacion has nothing to do with your blood pressure, but means one way, in the direction of the arrow.

Auburn-Foresthill Bridge To Get Access Road

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Harold T. (Bizz) Johnson, representing El Dorado and Placer Counties, revealed today that the Bureau of Reclamation will open bids Oct. 8 for construction of 2.6 miles of access road to serve the Auburn – Foresthill bridge across the Northern arm of the reservoir to be created by the construction of Auburn Dam.

The advertisement for bids was issued by the Bureau of Reclamation Engineering Headquarters in Denver, Colorado and the bid opening will take place there.

Bureau Officials told Congressman Johnson they hope to award the contract by October 15th and start the road construction soon thereafter.

The 2.6 miles of road construction on each side of the proposed bridge site will link the bridge with existing roads.

Bids for the initial work on the high-level bridge will be advertised later this year.

This will involve the superstructures which must be installed prior to the start of construction of the dam proper.

Bids for the superstructure of the bridge will be sought next year.

$25 Million Track Set For 1970

ONTARIO, Calif. — Groundbreaking ceremonies last week at the 700-acre site east of Los Angeles officially launched the $25.5 million Ontario (California) Motor Speedway, a multi-purpose auto racing facility scheduled for completion in the fall of 1970.

Speedway officials, headed by Board Chairman Dan W. Lufkin, were joined by actor Kirk Douglas, Ontario Mayor Howard J. Snider, city and county dignitaries and prominent members of the auto racing fraternity for the traditional spade work which was heralded as the beginning of a new era for American auto racing.

The new Speedway represents the largest single investment ever expended at one time for an automobile racing facility.

When completed it will have the versatility of accommodating all major forms of motor sports including a 500 mile race for Indianapolis cars as the inaugural event in 1970, over a 2.5-mile oval similar to the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

A stock car race of equal distance also is planned for the oval while a 3.5-mile road course will be used for European sports car and formula-type races.

Provisions have also been made for a drag strip, utilizing a portion of the main straightaway where a premium drag race will be held annually.

Facilities for spectators and competitors have been aimed at elaborate comfort and convenience, to rival other major sports stadiums and arenas across the nation.

One of the new Speedway's most unique features will be 100 per cent viewing from the 95,000 permanent grandstand seats.

There will be an additional 40,000 temporary steel bleacher seats plus infield room to accommodate a total of more than 200,000 spectators.

Modern rest rooms and concessions, air conditioned club boxes and restaurants, extensive landscaping and paved parking areas also are included.

Tips Given To Mexico City Visitors

If you had to pick just one meal in Mexico most Mexicans would recommend mole which is a dish dearest to the Mexican palate.

One of the best places to eat mole outside of a private home is the public market, but this is not always the most esthetically pleasing spot to the diner.

But regardless of where you decide to eat mole use some caution. Mole is a rich, dark hot sauce which can also be very messy. It is best eaten by scooping it up with bits of tortillas, and in the process, a favorite shirt or dress front may be spotted. So dress accordingly.

Some other helpful information and hints about Mexico, as gathered for us by the resident representatives of Bank of America travelers cheques:

Travel arrangements, including hotel reservations and seats for the Olympic events are being handled exclusively by the Mexican Government through authorized travel agents. If you need accommodations and seats contact their local travel agent as soon as possible.

Some Mexico City policemen have small flag emblems of different countries sewn on their shoulders which means that they speak the languages of the countries shown.

Women should have a scarf handy to cover their heads when they enter any of the many beautiful old churches which you will find throughout the country. This is merely good manners, since Mexico is predominantly Roman Catholic.

Taxis in Mexico City show Libre above their meters when available and if you're lucky enough to get one, pay exactly what the meter reads.

Cruising taxis are painted green or red, while "sitio" or stand taxis are salmon pink and they charge an extra peso for their services. Sometimes you can rent these on a time basis, usually at a minimum of 25 pesos an hour.

No matter how friendly you dress or look, somebody's eyes will be focused on your wallet in your back pocket or your purse, because pickpockets exist the world over.

Protect your money by buying travelers cheques and make sure that you record the serial numbers in a safe place – not with your cheques – in case you need that quick refund.

Readers Seek Benefit Facts

(This is another of a series of questions and answers on social security. They are typical of questions answered everyday by social security representatives throughout the country.)

If you have a question about social security, send it to Arthur A. Johnson, Jr., District Manager, Social Security Administration, Reno, Nev. 89502. Your answer will appear in a future column.

Q.: My uncle died July 17, 1968. He was receiving social social security payments. He is survived by a widow age 58. Will she be entitled to social security for that part of the month of July that he was alive?

A.: No. Entitlement to social security benefits ends with the month before the month of a terminating event, which in this case would be the month of July. The June check would be the last one payable.

Q.: I applied for social security benefits starting at age 63. I have been receiving checks every month since. I have not worked since receiving my checks and do not intend to return to work. Will my payments be increased when I reach age 65?

A.: If this gentleman does not return to work, the amount will remain the same for the rest of his life.

Q.: I took a Civil Service job after working under social security for a number of years. I will not be 65 for a long time. Can I make voluntary payments to social security for the period I am not working under social security.

A.: No. There is no provision for making voluntary payments into social security. A person must be working in employment covered by the Social Security Act either in an employer/employe relationship or as a self-employed person in a business or profession covered under the law.
